TOUCHING INCIDENT IN FLEMING CASE

Children Committed to Care of Uncle After Pathetic Scene in Court.

SENSATIONAL RALEIGH CASE

Divorce Proceedings to Follow—Woman Swooned When Told of the Judge's Ruling on Habeas Corpus—Father.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 19.—A decree by Chief Justice Walter Clark, denying the prayer of Mrs. Percy B. Fleming for the custody of her two children, George Mortimer, aged four, and Nellie Bryan, aged three years, and leaving them in the care of their uncle, Dr. Arthur H. Fleming, of Louisburg, stirred the most sensational and pitiful scene witnessed here in a great while.

Judge Clark closed a written ruling with the inquiry: "Is Dr. Fleming in the court room?"

The latter advanced to the bar where the children sat by their mother. She clasped them in her arms and swooned. The children were thrown into a panic and began screaming.

Mrs. Fleming's father, H. E. Crouch, of Washington, took his fainting daughter in his arms and carried her into an ante-room where she gradually recovered.

The court room was packed when the hour arrived, 8 o'clock, for the announcement of the disposition of the writ which Mrs. Fleming had sued to recover the children taken from her July 17th. The decree set out that Percy B. Fleming, the husband and father, admits his unfitness to have custody of the children and that, while petitioner, Mrs. Fleming, asks custody, it appears she has no means and her father, only a modest income as an employe in the government service at Washington.

"Besides," reads the decree, "there are grave allegations in the pleadings, touching her moral character as a wife and mother and much evidence has been offered to sustain the charges. These charges are denied by the petitioner and much proof has been offered by her in support of the denial."

Continuing, the Chief Justice sets out that divorce proceedings will soon be instituted when the issues will be found by a jury, so the court would not prejudice either party in the divorce proceedings. The court finds Dr. Fleming, paternal uncle of the children, fit in character and means to care for the children, pending the divorce matter. The decree directs that the costs be divided.

It required less than an hour this morning for the taking of testimony to be concluded in the case involving the custody of the two children. Thereafter counsel for Mr. Fleming suggested that the case go to the judge without argument, but Mrs. Fleming's attorneys desired to be heard. First argument was by F. S. Spruill for Mr. Fleming, who insisted on the children remaining with Dr. A. H. Fleming, Louisburg, since his client admitted his unfitness and claimed to have proven the unfitness of Mrs. Fleming, petitioner. Other arguments were by H. E. Norris and Col. J. W. Hinsdale, for Mrs. Fleming, insisting that Dr. Fleming was unfit to have children, and Mrs. Fleming's unfitness was not proven. W. C. Douglas closed the argument for Mr. Fleming.

Before the arguments W. B. Holder, and J. H. McGinness were examined as to having seen Mrs. Fleming and M. W. Tyree at the entrance to the Tyree studio one night. But they could not swear Mrs. Fleming did not go into the bookstore instead of the studio, entrance being mutual.

Dr. A. H. Fleming, Louisburg, was recalled to deny the testimony of Mrs. Percy Fleming, that he attempted to embrace her once when her husband was away, he having remarked before doing so that he would probably be "plugged with a bullet some time and probably she would also." Following denial of this he testified that Tyree took him aside once in his studio and confided to him that he knew personally Mrs. Fleming was a crooked woman, but he must never quote him, else he would swear he didn't say it.

MISTRIAL IN LAND CASE.

Jury Could Not Agree in Interesting Litigation at Asheville.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 19.—The jury in the case of U. S. vs. Hiwassee Lumber Company, in the Circuit Court of the United States, after 24 hours of deliberation, failed to reach a conclusion, and at 1 o'clock today the jury was dismissed, the case resulting in a mistrial. The jury was given the case Friday noon. In this litigation the government is suing for the possession of about 5,000 acres of timber land in Clay county, which, it is contended, was granted to E. R. Olmstead before the Civil war, who sold the land to a man named Stevens, who subsequently conveyed it to the United States.

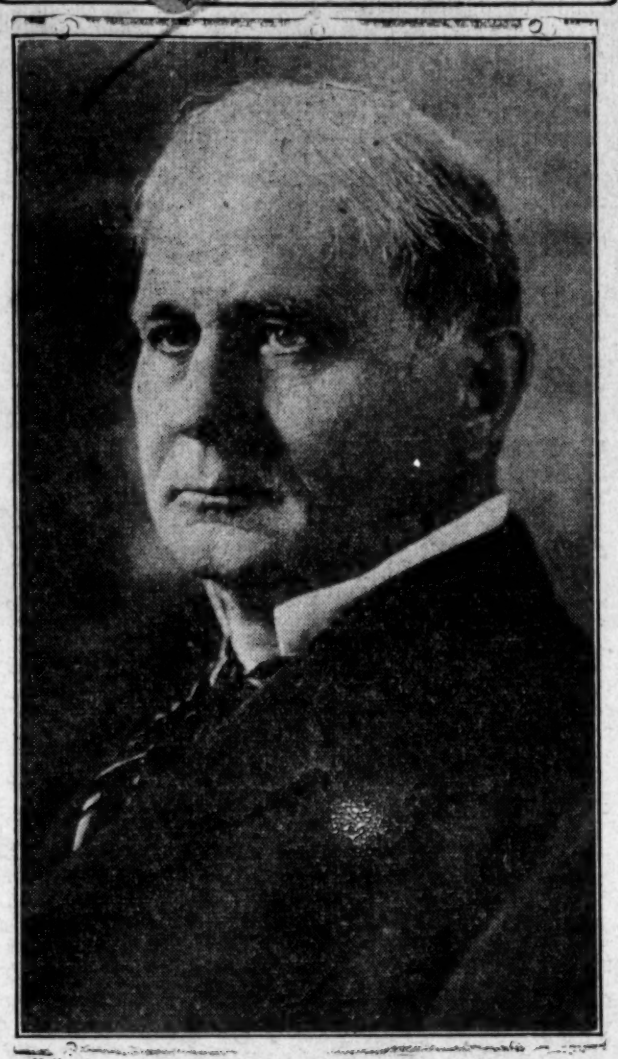
"...ated But Not Dismayed"



Following a day replete with a succession of dramatic events, Speaker Champ Clark, in Congress Friday, left the chair and took the floor in one last supreme but unsuccessful effort to defeat the President's veto of the wool and farmers' free list bill. He was given an ovation from both sides of the House when he dramatically declared: "The President has a right to veto this bill if he wants to. I am not quarreling with him. I am lamenting his lack of wisdom. He has raised an issue that will rage with unabated fury until the close of the polls in November, 1912."

NEW AERO DURATION RECORD

W. G. Beatty Remains In Air Over Three Hours and Half With Passenger at Chicago Meet -Ely Won Contest

Chicago, Aug. 19.—W. G. Beatty, in a Wright bi-plane beat the world's record for duration while carrying a passenger at the International Aviation meet here today. Beatty and his passenger were in the air at the opening gun at 3:30 o'clock and remained up until 7:08 P. M., a total of three hours and 38 minutes. The former record was made by Amerigo, at Mulhaussen, Germany, December 11, 1910, when he carried a passenger three hours, 19 minutes, 37 seconds.

While official announcements from the contest committee were received with doubt hereafter it has been learned that O. A. Brindly officially announced as having flown to a heighth of 11,726 feet, which would have been a world record, instead had risen only 5,768, there was little doubt that the Beatty figures were approximately correct for his performance was watched and timed by thousands of spectators, and his record is not subject to the mistakes possible in so intricate an instrument as the barograph.

Today's events were enlivened by a number of spectacular escapes. The hydroplane driven by C. C. Wittmer and cruising about over the lake, approached dangerously near the yacht Marine and caused a scare among its passengers, but passed over head without injuring anybody.

The sped contest for biplanes was taken by Eugene Ely, after a sharp brush with Lincoln Beachey. He made the twelve miles in 13 minutes, 47.2 seconds, Beachey's time being 14 minutes 2.2 seconds.. The fastest mile and a third lap was made by Ely in 1:30.53.

Thomas Sopwith won the 12-mile race for monoplanes in 13:38.4, Rene Simon giving him a close race in 13:49.4. Sopwith took the weight carrying event without competition.

YOUNG GIRL A SUICIDE.

Disappointed in Love Affair, Second Attempt Was Successful.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 19.—Miss Gertie Holmes, daughter of John B. Holmes, of Benson, aged 17 years, committed suicide today by drinking carbolic acid. The cause of the rash act was disappointment in a love affair.

The man to whom she was engaged recently married another girl, and Miss Holmes attempted suicide the next day by taking laudanum, but was saved by physicians. Since then she had been closely watched, but outwitted her keepers and when doctors reached her she was beyond hope.

THREE NOW HELD FOR MURDER

Charges Preferred Against Alleged Members of Mob That Lynched Negro—One Admits His Guilt—Witnesses Held.

Coatesville, Pa., August 19.—Three men alleged to have been members of the mob which last Sunday took Zack Walker from a hospital here and burned him to death, are behind the bars of the county jail at West Chester, charged with murder. They are Joseph Swartz, who came here recently and is a rigger for Worth Brothers, iron and steel manufacturers; Captain E. C. Berry, a parachute jumper, and William H. Gilbert, a Philadelphia and Reading Railroad fireman.

The latter two were yesterday arrested and sent to jail in default of $1,000 as "material witnesses." They were later released on bond, but later this afternoon after the district attorney had questioned Schwartz for a long time, Barry and Gilbert were rearrested and held on the charge of murder in the first degree.

According to the district attorney, Schwartz admitted that he was one of the persons who had hold of the rope and helped to drag the negro to the field where he was burned. He also said, according to the court officials, that he helped to gather the hay with which the pyre was built.

All three of the men were taken into custody later this afternoon, and rushed to West Chester, where they were held without bail.

These are the first men to be held on a direct charge of the murder.

There were many rumors that more arrests were to be made today, but the district attorney before leaving for his home in West Chester, said that no more men would be taken into custody before Monady. The names of several persons who are prominent in this borough have been mentioned in connection with the lynching, but District Attorney Gawthrop refused to state what he had learned from Swartz and would not discuss probable arrests.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 19.—The State Supreme Court of Appeals today granted a writ of error in the case of Joel H. Cutchin, mayor of Roanoke, who was found guilty by a jury of misfeasance and malfeasance in office and was removed by Judge Mullen from his position. A stay of sentence was granted pending the appeal, and the higher court grants supersedeas along with its error writ, so that the mayor will remain in office if the chooses so to do until his case has been finally determined by the court of last resort.

ENGLAND RELIEVED AT END OF STRIKE

CLAIM VICTORY FOR UNIONISM

Credit for Successful Negotiations Given David Lloyd George—Resume Railroad Activities.

London, Aug. 19.—A great wave of relief swept over the country tonight when shortly after 11 o'clock the announcement was made from the Board of Trade offices that the railway strike had been settled and that the men would return to work immediately.

Telegrams were quickly dispatched to all important railroad towns bearing the information and crossed in transit messages to London describing strike riots in Llenally and smaller towns in the Kingdom. The cabinet had been working night and day since the strike was threatened to arrange a compromise between the railway managers and the employes. Most of the credit for the ultimate success of their efforts appears to rest upon the shoulders of David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, who in his statements to Parliament and interviews with the managers and the men worked for conciliation when all others of the interested parties seemed to have given it up.

A joint committee of five members, composed of two representatives of the railway company, two of the men and a non-partisan chairman will be appointed Tuesday to investigate the workings of the conciliation act of 1907, which the men claim is the root of all grievances. This device overcomes the men's objections to royal commission, which they contend always has been in practice a synonym for delay.

So far as technical advantage in the compromise goes, it appears to be in the men's favor, particularly as the managers consent to meet their representatives. The official statement concerning the agreement says the managers consented to this scheme in view of certain representations made them by the government, including a promise of legislation to permit of an increase in railway rates. The men claim victory for unionism on the point of recognition of unions which was one of the most vital principles at stake.

Messages were sent to 1,800 branches of the labor unions tonight saying:

The joint committee has settled the strike. It is a victory for trades unionism. All men must return to work immediately.

As a result of the settlement the soldiers who had been scattered at strategical railway points along the country will be withdrawn at once.

There is no doubt that today's affray at Llanelly, Wales, where troops fired on a mob killing two men and wounding two others, had much influence in ending the strike. The liberal government had almost its existence at stake because of the strike, as it depends on the working classes for its power. The shooting of citizens by soldiers occurs less often in the United Kingdom than in any other European country and is particularly repugnant to all classes.

The second day of the strike brought little change over the conditions of Friday. The men's boast that they would tie up all the railroads in the Kingdom, and the managers promises to maintain a curtailed but adequate service both failed of realization. The men estimated the numbers of their fellows on strike today at 250,000, a gain of 50,000 over Friday, but the board of trade's estimate gave only 140,000, while the railway managers held even that to be an exaggeration.

Traffic with the south of England was well maintained while the north and in Wales it was greatly crippled.

The scarcity of food had not begun to be felt in London.

In this city tonight except for the soldiers in the parks and stations and crowds in a few depots waiting for late trains, life moved in its normal channels.

Although Premier Asquith did not attend today's conference which effected the settlement of the strike, it is believed h brought pressure to bear with the railway managers in reaching the desired end.

Trouble in Wales.

Llanelly, Wales, Aug. 19.—Rioting is rampant in Llanelly tonight as the result of troops having fired upon a mob today, killing two men and seriously wounded two others, all of them alleged to be young laborers who were in no way connected with the railway strike.

Five hundred soldiers were hastily summoned to clear the streets of angry men, while others are guarding the electric power house and public building, which the rioters threaten to burn.

The home of a magistrate has been looted and another house and several railway cars loaded with provisions were burned.

Llanelly is regarded as the key to West Wales and disturbances have been constant here since the railway strike was declared Friday night. Several times the mob became so men-

PRINTER'S UNION IS CONSERVATIVE

Liberal Policy and Avoidance of Strikes Counseled by I. T. U. Convention.

PRESIDENT LYNCH IS UPHELD

Adoption of Tentative Arbitration Contract—For Defense of McNamaras—Delegates Leave for Los Angeles, Cal.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—The 57th annual convention of the International Typographical Union ended here today, after the administration wing of the Union which favors a liberal policy in dealing with employers and the avoidance of strikes so far as possible, had been sustained in every issue coming before the convention.

The laws committee which has won on every endorsement it has made in the last ten years, passed through the convention with its record unbroken.

The most important work of the convention was the adoption of a tentative arbitration contract, liberal in its provisions, to be submitted to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, January 1st, the decision to re-submit the vote abolishing piece work to a referendum, the raising of the number of Union petitions required to initiate legislation from 50 to 100. The voting of a per capita of 25 cents for the defense of John J. and James B. McNamara; the passing of resolutions urging drastic Asiatic exclusion laws and the decision not to invest the old-age pension funds in bonds, but to keep that for fighting resources.

One of the chief points of difference between the new and the old arbitration agreement is that the former provides for a local arbitration board of five members instead of the present board of four members. Under the new agreement two members are to be chosen from each side, a chairman not connected with either interest to preside. The main points of the agreement are as follows:

New agreements will be executed at the petition of the local union and the local publisher.

The agreement will recognize international law and local law, not affecting wages, hours and conditions. The actual contract is to be signed by the local publisher and the president and secretary of the local union and to be guaranteed by the chairman of the special standing committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and the president of the International Typographical Union.

Holders of present arbitration contracts should secure contracts under agreement and with consent of local union prior to or on May 1st, 1912. For continuous arbitration in all other cases, the sixty-day limit is required.

The delegates left for Los Angeles tonight to attend the unveiling of a monument in the Printers' Cemetery there.

ROBESON DRAINAGE.

Secretary Wilson Much Interested—Will Visit County.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The visit of Congressman Godwin with State Senator Cobb, of Robeson county, to the Agricultural Department today in behalf of the drainage projects and farm life school for Robeson county was eminently successful. Secretary Wilson promised to attend the big rallies to be held in Lumberton on successive days the latter part of October, one day to be devoted to drainage and one day to farm life school. In case he cannot attend, he will send the assistant secretary, Hon. W. M. Hayes. Dr. Bradford Knapp, chief of farm demonstration work, promised to attend the rallies also. Hon. C. G. Elliott, chief of the drainage office, promised to accompany Congressman Godwin and a local committee over Robeson a few days prior to the rallies, for the purpose of making an ocular survey of the county looking to the preliminary survey by government engineers. It is the purpose of the Farmers' Union of the county to make several drainage districts in the county of Robeson, which will be of untold value to the people. Secretary Wilson, on being told by Congressman Godwin and Senator Cobb of the projects at once expressed much interest and said they were of the greatest importance yet undertaken in the South and that he would give it all the aid in his power. He expressed much surprise and pleasure at the wonderful development of the State and was glad to hear of the good corn and cotton crops in Robeson, which is due largely to the efforts of the Farmers' Co-operative demonstration work. ANOTHER MOVE FOR STATEHOOD

House Approved Measure Yesterday and Bill Goes to Taft for Final Action—Recall Feature Was Eliminated.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico now only awaits the perfunctory approval of President Taft. The Flood-Smith resolution, admitting these territories into the Union with the judiciary recall feature of the Arizona constitution eliminated to meet the objection which caused President Taft to veto the original Statehood bill, was passed by the House today without the formality of a roll call.

It passed the Senate yesterday. No attempt was made in either body to pass over the President's veto the original bill, which required Arizona to vote again on the recall of judges proposition, but did not make it obligatory that the provision be stricken from the Arizona constitution before the territory could become a State.

The joint resolution passed today provides for Arizona's admission with the constitution adopted by the convention of June 20, 1910, and later ratified by the Arizona voters upon the "fundamental condition" that article 8, of the constitution, relating to the recall of public officers, shall be held and construed not to apply to judicial officers, and that the Arizona people shall give their assent to that construction. The President is required within 30 days after approval of the measure to certify the fact to the governor of Arizona, who, within 30 days thereafter must proclaim an election to be held between 60 and 90 days after the proclamation, to vote upon article 8, and to vote for State and other officers. The result of the election must be certified to the President, "and if the proposed construction of article 8 has been adopted, the President will issue a proclamation, whereupon Arizona will become a State.

The resolution admits New Mexico with provisions making its constitution easier of amendment.

It was passed after a spirited two hours' debate. Representative Flood, of Virginia, chairman of the Territories Committee, declared that the Democrats favored passing the original bill over the President's veto, but, knowing such an attempt would be useless, he decided to take the step that would insure immediate admission of the Territories to the Union. He said that before the original bill was drafted the sub-committee having it in charge had called upon the President and he had given them no intimation he would disapprove any of the provisions later included in the measure which the President vetoed.

Chairman Flood explained that if the Arizona people still wanted the judiciary recall after coming into the Union, they could have it by their own initiative within a few weeks after Arizona became a State.

ABOUT THE COTTON CROP.

Senator Smith Makes Request of Secretary Wilson.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The Department of Agriculture's official September cotton report, giving the condition of the growing crop as of August 25th, will be expedited as much as possible, according to a memorandum received today by the Senate Committee on Agriculture from Secretary Wilson. This action was in respense to a resolution by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, which had been referred to the committee, calling upon the department to investigate immediately the condition of the cotton crop. Senator Smith had presented telegrams from State agricultural commissioners in the South to the effect that the department's condition figures, on which estimates of a 14,500,000 bales crop were based, were not borne out,

The secretary's memorandum today followed a consultation he had with the department's statistian, which had been called after a conference between Secretary Wilson, Senator Smith and Chairman Burnham, of the Agricultural Committee. In his memorandum Secretary Wilson said that he had sent out cotton crop reporting blanks to the department's reporters and agents with instructions that the reports be made "as early as possible."

Senator Smith expressed himself to the Senate as satisfied with this arwould not press further his resolution rangement and announced that he for passage in the Senate. He believes that the result will be a report in advance of the usual time of issuance, which is September 2nd, and that it will be more satisfactory to the cotton growers than the report made August 2nd.

THE BEATTIE CASE.

Will be Called in Chesterfield Court Monday Morning.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 19.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., will be arraigned at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the Chesterfield circuit court at Chesterfield C. H. to answer for the alleged murder of his wife on the Midlothian turnpike the night of July 18th, and the chances are that the trial will be gone into forthwith, though the defense may ask a delay of about a week. The judge has announced, however, that there shall be no delay except for cause, and there does not seem to be any adequate cause for appointment of proceedings. The commonwealth is ready to go to trial and the court officers are preparing for a trial from and including Monday.

FLIGHT OF ATWOOD PROVING SUCCESS

"BIRD'S HOP TO NEW YORK"

Within 439 Miles of Proposed Alighting Place at Coney Island—He Talks of Flight Across the Continent.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Landing in New York State after flying in an air line 99 miles from Swanville, Pa., to Buffalo, Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, who is attempting to break the world's long distance aeroplane record, is tonight within 439 miles of his proposed alighting place at Coney Island.

"It's only a bird's hop to New York," said Atwood, stepping out of his Burgess-Wright biplane in the grounds of the Kenilworth Race Track.

He made the 99 miles from Swanville to Buffalo in two hours and 29 minutes, with one stop at Erie, Pa. He arrived here at 7:02 P. M., long after the people had given up hope of seeing him, on the assumption that he was to stop overnight at Dunkirk, N. Y.

The Bostonian's distance from the start in St. Louis last Monday to date is 826 miles, as compared with the world's record of 1,164 miles.

But Atwood's time, counted in days devoted to his flight is far ahead of that of the record holders, Koenig, VollMuller and Buechner, who flying over Germany ended with the best time of 30 days from start to finish.

Rising in a corn field at Swanville, with crowds of farmers as spectators, Atwood's machine was almost dashed to the ground before he could get his bearings. He landed in Erie two hours after his scheduled time. The wind was so strong it was almost 5 o'c up to the time the aviator came into view, Dunkirk was confident it was to see him alight there.

At 5:32 P. M., the operator at the station nine miles away reported "He's over here now and headed straight for Dunkirk." The reception committee formed in line and a few minutes later Atwood spun into view at a high altitude. He kept straight ahead, however, and soon was lost to sight.

In entering Buffalo Atwood became confused by the smoke and was not able to find the race track until he made a wide detour over the city. It was three-quarters of an hour after he reached the outskirts of the city before he located Kenilworth.

He made a perfect landing in the center of the mile oval.

"Across the continent flight possible?" he asked. "Why, I don't want to boast, but there is nothing alarming in such an undertaking now."

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH

Colored Painter Killed at Mount Olive —Personal Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mt. Olive, N. C., Aug. 19.—Last night shortly after the northbound "Shoo-Fly" passed here about 9:30 P. M., the dead body of William McGill, colored, a painter, was found near the railroad track at Main and Center street crossing, and inquiry revealed the fact that he boarded the train at Faison. Deceased was a boarder at the home of old "Aunt" Dinah Strong, colored, who lives in Hillsboro, a suburb of Mount Olive, and evidently met his death by jumping from the moving train at the street crossing mentioned, which is nearer to the boarding house than the depot. It is suspected by some here that he had been drinking, or he would not have attempted to jump from the moving train.

Boys' Brigade	1	3	.250

The first game in the City League yesterday proved of intense interest until the eight inning when the A. C. L., by a fine batting rally, turned a one run lead into assured victory, and, in consequence, took first place in the race for the championship of the second season.

McEachern, for the Y. M. C. A., pitched a bang-up game of ball and materially assisted in keeping the score down by his fast fielding, having seven assists to his credit; but especial praise is due to none, as all the players vied with each other in putting up a first-class exhibition of the National game.

For two rounds nothing of extraordinary interest occurred to wake the fans who had traveled out to see the contest, but in the third, Green, first up, hit a liner on which Roddy Houston fell down because he thought it was too easy. Then Trust let one pass him, permitting Green to go to second, whence he traveled to third when Charlie Terry sent a long, high fly to Duls in right field. Incidentally, Duls captured this by a brilliant one-hand catch after a hard run. Emerson bunted and Green raced home with the first score of the game, "Skeet" receiving credit for a hit when the ball was fielded to the plate in the effort to cut off the score. Emerson went to second when Trust dropped the throw to the plate and traveled as far as third on Taylor's out at first, but his hopes of making an additional tally were foiled when Bergen captured Bob Houston's fly to left field.

From that stage to the eighth the lid was on tight for all concerned, although in the fifth, sixth and seventh the Railroaders threatened, sending a man as far as third in each of those rounds, while the Y. M. C. A. boys tried hard but did not succeed in getting a man past second.

In the eighth the Coast Line clinched it. With one man down, Houston singled and reached second when Hines hit to Duls at second. In the effort to make a double, Jones foozled and both men were safe. A double steal advanced them to third and second, whence they scored on Starritt's single, after Wright had made the second out. Starritt went to third when Bergen came across with a single, but Green's out to Duls stopped the scoring.

The Second Game.

The second game was played rapidly and developed an unexpected ending. It was interesting from start to finish and kept all on edge until the last man was out. The soldiers started a heavy bombardment in the opening session, which promised annihilation to the Brigaders, but their powder became damp and by a steady, never-failing fight, the latter finally pulled out a victory to the music of five to four.

Orrell started the engagement with a rattling single and stole second, going to third on Shaw's single after Calder had been called out by being hit by a batted ball. Shew purloined second and cantered home when Parker bobbed up with another single to center. Moore threw high to the plate in the effort to shut off some of the tallies and Parker went on to second, whence he traveled to third when Parker foozled Taylor's long fly to left. Boswell singled, scoring Parker and Taylor and then Gore showed what he could do by fanning Gore and Taylor, of the Soldiers.

Four targets seemed to satisfy the Artillerymen in their rifle practice and they lay on their arms for the remaining eight rounds; but the Brigaders came up from behind, sending two across in this manner: With two down Montgomery reached first on Shaw's error and went to second on Gore's safety, both of them scoring when Salling mis-handled Lacy's grounder.

In the seventh Gore opened with a single and stole second, scoring later when Taylor let Davis' hot one get away from him.

In the eighth Moore led off with a single and went to second when Hines repeated. Both runners advanced on a double steal, scoring on Bennett's slam to the outfield.

The Third Game.

A rare treat was the third game, being a tie game played off between the W. L. I. and the Brigade. This the Soldiers won by using the tactics they had employed in the previous contest.

In the first round they sent across three tallies in the following manner: Orrell reached first on Lacy's error and went to second when Montgomery foozled Calder's grounder to him. Both of them scored when Watson fell down on the throw of Shaw's ground hit to the plate to shut off the runners. Parker and Tom Taylor were quick outs, Shaw meanwhile traveling to second whence he scored when Montgomery donated another misplay.

In their half the Brigaders scored one on Watson's two-bagger, a stolen base and there the scoring ceased, the game being called at the end of the fifth round on account of darkness.

GAME AT WALLACE.

Teachey's Defeated 3 to 0.—Splendid Game Between Teams.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wallace, N. C., Aug. 19.—Wallace played her first game of baseball here this afternoon by defeating Teachey's 3 to 0. Both teams played considering the wet diamond. Both pitchers had the batters completely fooled. Whitfield for the locals had a shade better of the contest, fanning 17, while Turner, for Teachey's, fanned 12 men. Cavanaugh and Hussey, C., led with the stick by poling out a cople of two-baggers in succession. Score:

Wallace .....000 102 000—3
Teachey's .....000 000 000—0

Batteries: Whitfield and Barden; Turner and Turner.

TOWN CREEK WON.

Took Game From Southport Team Yesterday on Home Grounds.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Town Creek, N. C., Aug. 19.—A game of baseball was played here this afternoon between the local team and a Southport team, resulting in a score of 12 to 5 in favor of the locals. The game was a pretty exhibition, replete with fielding and batting stars, and was witnessed by a large crowd of fans, estimated at 200.

Rice and Arnold held the battery positions for Southport, while the locals' bombardment was managed by Montgomery and McKeithan.

Brooklyn Baptist Church.

Rev. C. F. Whitlock, the pastor, will preach two special sermons on timely topics at Brooklyn Baptist Church today. This morning his subject will be "House Cleaning." He will say some things about the importance of making church membership mean more in the way of clean living than it now does. "Sabbath Observance," will be his evening subject. Mr. Whitlock is especially anxious for all his members to be present at both services today.

Brooklyn, Aug. 19.—Brooklyn and Pittsburg broke even in their double-header today. The home team took the first game by 3 to 2, Rucker being invincible except in one inning. Leifield was batted for 15 hits, but was effective with men on bases, 13 runners being left. The visitors had a lead of 10 to 2, in the second game when Brooklyn began the ninth inning. A hot rally for seven hits and five runs sent Adams to the club house with two men out and Barger at bat. Steele got him and the game ended 10 to 7. Brooklyn today purchased Outfielder Welchonce from Nashville.

DELGADO FIRSTS TAKE TWO

Beat Out Wrightsboro in Both Ends of Double Header.

The Delgado first team and the Wrightsboro boys, the deadliest rivals in Wilmington sporting circles, met in a double header conflict at Wrightsboro yesterday afternoon, the visitors taking both ends, the first by the score of 4 to 0, and the second 5 to 3. The battery work of Holt and Arnold in the first game and Wilson and Arnold in the second, for the Delgado team was a feature, these two pitchers having an enviable record for the past season. Out of 22 games played by the Delgado team this season todate, they have 19 victories to their credit, a record that is unprecedented, at least locally. The battery work for Wrightsboro yesterday was done by Jernigan and Jernigan, and Yopp and Wilson.

YACHT CLUB RACE.

No. 65 Winner of Walters-Jones Trophy—Probable Disqualification.

The fifth and last of the series of Class A., boat races over the Carolina Yacht Club course was sailed at Wrightsville Beach yesterday afternoon, No. 65, Capt. W. M. Peck, being the winner, with No. 66, Capt. J. S. Brown, second. There is, however, a question of disqualification as to the former to be settled later by the Regatta Committee, on account of the craft having lost a member of her crew overboard and having picked him up later. On the face of the result No. 65 wins the handsome Jones-Walters trophy and No. 66 wins second prize, the handsome pitcher, offered by the Carolina Yacht Club. In the event No. 65 is disqualified by the committee, No. 66 will be declared first winner with No. 63, Capt. E. A. Metts, second.

The race yesterday afternoon was very interesting as concluding the series for the season and the official return of the timekeeper was as follows:

No. 65, Capt. W. M. Peck, 1:38:55.
No. 68, Capt. J. VanB. Metts, 1:39:07.
No. 66, Capt. J. S. Brown, 1:39:19.
No. 63, Capt. E. A. Metts, 1:39:33.
No. 67, Capt. B. H. Bridgers, 1:41:45.
No. 73, Capt. F. A. Lord, 1:42:15.
No. 69, Capt. R. G. Rankin, Jr., 1:43:12.

It is expected that the Regatta Committee will meet in a few days and decide definitely as to the points at issue as to the disqualification of No. 65.

CAPTAIN GANNON MAKES VISIT.

Popular Charlestonian Comes Back After Eight Years Absence.

Among the visitors at Wrightsville Beach for the past several days was Captain W. H. Gannon, of Charleston, S. C., a gentleman as well-known and as highly esteemed in Wilmington as he is in his own home city. Captain Gannon, very much to the regret of his host of friends, will return to Charleston today. It has been eight years since the Captain visited Wilmington and quite naturally everybody is delighted to have had again the pleasure of greeting the genial Charlestonian. In fact, he used to be such a frequent visitor to Wilmington some years ago that practically he was a Wilmingtonian and this city would now lay claim to him except for getting the ill will of Charleston.

Captain Gannon was formerly a member of the board of government inspectors of steam vessels, having for 13 years served as inspector of hulls. While serving in this capacity he visited Wilmington once a month in company with Capt. E. E. Groom, who was inspector for boilers. Captain Gannon was appointed inspector under President Cleveland's administration, and, because of his efficiency served two years under Harrison's administration but later had his "head chopped off" because his politics was Democratic. However, when Cleveland succeeded Harrison Captain Gannon was reappointed, and served altogether 13 years until 1898, when for partisan reasons he had to walk the plank. He happened to be in Wilmington December 10, 1898, when the riot occurred and his courtesies and protection afforded to ladies at The Orton are well remembered by those who recall that memorable event. Captain Gannon further endeared himself to the people of Wilmington when he risked his life in going to the aid of some ladies in the surf at Wrightsville Beach. These things and a personality that wins won lasting friendship for the Captain and naturally every one who knows him is his friend.

Captain Gannon is now State inspector of Fisheries for the Charleston district, and while he likes the business, he is ready to return to his old duties as United States inspector of vessels. He states that he is satisfied that the country is going Democratic in 1912, and judging from the state of preservation in which these political days find him it is likely that he will get back in the old position which used to bring him so often to Wilmington.

CRANBERRIES GROWING WILD.

Nearly One Hundred Acres on Topsail Sound Bearing Fruit.

Mr. J. M. Batson, of this city has returned from Cypress Lake, on Topsail Sound, bringing with him remarkably fine specimens of cranberries that are growing on 100 acres of lowlands belonging to Mr. C. F. Howard, of that place. The berries are just now ripening and are of fine quality and flavor. The vines came up in the lowlands and Mr. Howard has been turning them to good account, disposing of quantities of the berries each season on the Wilmington market. Recently about 75 acres of the plants or vines were burned out on account of fire from the railroad right of way and while the crop this year will be nearly cut off, those that were left from the fire are doing well and promise a large yield, Mr. Batson says. The diversity of crops that may be raised in this section is wonderful as is illustrated by this latest culture of cranberries in the swamp or sound lands.

NEGRO SHOT ANOTHER

Arrested Yesterday and Trial Will be Next Thursday.

Clayton Williams, colored, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Melvin Horne on two warrants issued by Justice Bornemann, one charging assault with a deadly weapon on Cary Rothville, colored, and the other a peace warrant by Liddie Williams, his wife. Justice Bornemann committed Williams to jail under $50 bond, which he furnished, Mr. Owen artindale becoming surety. The trial was set for next Thursday.

Williams alleges that he returned home some nights ago and found Rothville in company with his wife. He declared that he had on several previous occasions warned Rothville to keep away from his home and that this time he pulled his revolver and fired at Rothville, the bullet taking effect in the back of the man's neck. However, the wound was not of a serious nature, and the negro soon recovered.

"Trouble" Man Injured.

While on his way to East Wilmington yesterday afternoon to locate some wire trouble, Mr. R. O. Wortman, local "trouble" man for the Southern Bell Telephone Co., was thrown from his bicycle at a point in the road near the home of Mr. D. McEachern in trying to cut to one side of the road to dodge a dog which was barking at his heels. His left arm was bruised considerably and he received one bruise on the right arm. However, he was able to continue his trip, but was suffering right much upon his return to the city.

Always Use Right Hand.

With his left hand he took pipe and tobacco from his pocket and with his right hand he felt for a match. He had none. His fellow idler at the other end of the park bench gave him a match and then let his own cigar go out in his astonishment at seeing his left-handed neighbor light his pipe with his right hand.

"That's funny," said he. "You are just about the most confirmed left-hander I ever met, yet for that little trick you use your right hand as if born to it."

"All left-handed people do," was the reply. "Just think over the list of your smoking acquaintances and see if you ever knew one who lit his pipe with his left hand. I'll bet you didn't. I never did, and I have numbered among my pipe-loving friends several men whose right hand seemed nearly helpless for everything else."

His Garter Upside Down.

The late duke of Devonshire, who was very careful in everything, once entertained King Edward VII. at a ball at Devonshire house, which was the talk of London. As his majesty went away, he complimented the duke on the magnificent manner in which everything had been done and the way in which the evening had passed off. He said he could not suggest any change for the better, save in one little thing, which he hoped his grace would not mind his mentioning. "What is it, sir?" inquired the duke with much anxiety. "Pray tell me."

"You have got your garter on upside down," replied the king.

Under Different Circumstances.

The young bank clerk was writing home to his parents. "You will forgive a brief letter this week," he said, "as I am very busy, owing to the fact that we are short-handed in the office just now. One of the cashiers has gone to France for a rest. The other has gone there to avoid it."

SAVING A DOLLAR A WEEK

Deposited in a Savings Bank for Twenty Years, It Will Have Increased to $1,612.

"It is mighty hard," said an unfortunate workingman some time ago to the writer, "to save up a thousand dollars by laying aside a dollar or two a week and then to take it out of the savings bank and lose it to a get-rich-quick swindler, as I have just done." This poor fellow could work and save, but he had not had even a kindergarten education in finance, else his story would have been different. He had never given a thought to interest, and so was absolutely ignorant of growth through compound interest, and of course had never heard of that wonderful process of accumulation known as "progressive compound interest."

One dollar deposited in a savings bank that pays four per cent. will amount of $2.19 in twenty years. This is simple compound interest.. Now if you deposit one dollar every year for twenty years, or $20 in all, the sum to your credit will have grown to $30.97. Any wage-earner can put by one dollar a week. That money deposited in a savings bank for twenty years will have increased to $1,612. A deposit of five dollars a week will have grown to $8,000, and this at four per cent. will be $320 a year. There is no secret, no mystery about this. It is clear as the cloudless sun and the method is just as clean and honest.—Christian Herald.

Sleep and Happiness.

Dr. Henry Smith Williams, who wrote "The Science of Happiness," is an advocate of early rising. He made it almost a gospel in his book, and although he requires only about six hours' sleep himself he practices what he preaches and rises early. While writing "The Science of Happiness" he cut this period an hour or even two hours shorter for weeks at a stretch, not burning midnight oil, but retiring at a comparatively early hour and rising correspondingly early. As an example, Dr. Williams cites the elder Pliny. "It appears that in summer he always began his studies as soon as it was night; in winter generally at one in the morning, but never later than two and often at midnight. No man ever spent less time in bed; insomuch that he would sometimes, without retiring from his books, take a short sleep and then pursue his studies."

True Enlightenment.

"When we get enlightened we find that the way to attain harmony with God is by conforming ourselves to him, not by seeking to conform him to us. By and by we find that there is a God of infinite perfection in power, wisdom, justice, love and holiness; and then we find that God needs no instruction, for he is all wise, and before the beginning he knew all which would happen in the history of the human race. He needs no appeasing to alter his affection, for he is all love and has an infinite desire to confer the highest possible or conceivable blessing on the whole human race, and on each individual thereof. When we come to this conclusion we take pains to bring ourselves into harmony with God. All sacrifice disappears; all mutilation of the flesh or spirit, all ceremonies which do not grow out of the natural wants of mankind."—Theodore Parker.

FROM MR. PEARSALL.

New Variety of Fruit Found Growing in Hog Pasture.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., Aug. 19.—I am sending you a new species or variety of fruit found growing in my hog pasture on rich aluvial, underlaid with a strata of limestone and marl I will be pleased for you to name it. Should its nomenclature be a huckleberry above your persimmon" kindly refer the matter to the master of the Woodmen of the World or Col. Giles Westbrook, discoverer of the wild-hog-potato for I regard this next to the greatest discovery. The tree grows from 10 to 35 feet high with beautiful foliage. Fruit when ripe 3 to 3 1-2 inches long, growing in pairs and intensely sweet. Ripens in October, is locally known as the wild banana, live olive and pow-wow apple, with foliage resembling the persimmon. If the tree was cultivated and pruned it might be made a commercial fruit to say nothing of its value for hogs, cows, poultry and children.

A Thought.

Next to knowing when to seize an opportunity, the most important thing in life is to know when to forego an advantage.—Beaconsfield.

Announcing the fourth edition of its Southern cotton mill directory, The Textile Manufacturer of this city summarizes some of the principal statistics obtained. It appears that there are now in the South 785 mills operated by 751 mill companies, having an aggregate capital of $223,835,796, 11,973,254 spindles, and 257,779 looms. South Caolina leads with $80,373,380 capital, 4,440,903 spindles and 106,733 looms. North Carolina, of course, comes next, with $51,723,480 capital, 3,160,238 spindles and 56,557 looms. Georgia comes third with $32,896,600 capital, 2,090,712 spindles and 42,857 looms. It is stated that North Carolina has 288 mills, South Carolina 167 and Georgia 118. Thus the average North Carolina mill contains 10,618 spindles, as compared with 26,652 for South Carolina and 14,184 for Georgia. Virginia's mills number only nineteen, but they average 21,174 spindles; and Louisiana's five mills average 19,381. So South Carolina has the largest mills and Virginia next. North Carolina's mills average the smallest of any really important cotton manufacturing State, Oklahoma's two mills averaging the smallest of all with an average of 2,856 spindles each. The average spindleage for the whole South is 15,252. Perhaps the best thing about North Carolina mills is that they are small because they grew up almost entirely on home capital and continue to be owned almost entirely at home. Otherwise the very interesting data which our contemporary has gathered speak for themselves.—Charlotte Observer.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Aftermath of Wreck—Sidewalk Improvements—The Court House Square—New Grocery Firm. Personal News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 19.—Next Thursday is expected to be the biggest day Lumberton has had in some time, that being the day on which the county reunion of the Confederate veterans will be held. Preparations are well under way for the entertainment of the veterans and their wives, and nothing will be left undone to make the day one of pleasure for all who will come.

The Commercial Club will entertain the veterans and their wives at dinner and do all they can to make everybody feel welcome. A committee composed of Messrs. R. D. Caldwell, A. W. Peace, C. Barker, Marcus Floyd, T. C. Evans, Jno. D. McMillan and J. A. Sharpe has been appointed to look after the arrangements for the day. It is to be hoped that every citizen of the town will feel himself a committee of one to make the day one of pleasure for each and every visitor on that occasion.

The wreck on the Seaboard near Allenton Thursday was visited by many people from Lumberton. Automobiles, horses and bicycles were used. Everyone who went down came back and gave a different report of the affair; and it was one of the hardest things that ever occurred in the section to get a correct report of. This wreck, occurring where it did, calls in mind the fact that right within less than a mile of this same place three wrecks, two of them bad, have occurred and the lady killed there Thursday, was the first person to be killed there. The first bad wreck occurred there 42 years ago next October, when there was a head-on collision of two freight trains early at night. One engineer was thrown 30 feet from the track and got off with a dislocated shoulder. The other engineer saved himself by jumping. There was no telegraph on the Seaboard at that time and no assistance could be gotten towards clearing off the wreck until another scheduled train arrived next day and found the wreck. Then about 30 years ago, just the same place, between 4 and 5 o'clock in the morning, the Wilmington-bound mixed train lost the second-class car. On that occasion only the one car left the track and turned over, leading the track clear. No one was hurt. There is one of the straightest pieces of track to be found anywhere, and after passing through the cut below Allenton, a distance of probably 200 yards, the whole country for miles is level. Going east, provided a train does not stop at Allenton, time can be made up along there, but when a train stops there as it did Thursday, a wreck cannot be charged to fast running.

In addition to what some of the papers are saying with regard to the candidacy of Solicitor Sinclair for Congressional honors next year, we have heard many express themselves as hoping that he would decide to be a candidate. Simmons and Sinclair sounds good to us. We heard one of our best citizens make the remark this morning that it looked like Simmons to him, and that if Mr. Sinclair decided to enter the race, others could haul down their sails.

If the weather permits the work to be carried on, it is supposed the narrow gauge concrete pavement that is being put down on the north side of Elm street, between Seventh and Eighth, will be open to the public by the middle of next week. The south side of the street is paved with eight feet between these two streets. The north side really looks "dinky." But the citizens who live up that way must not be judged by the narrow gauge walk. They are all broad-minded and will vacate the walk when they meet two nurses pushing baby carriages, for it is a well known fact that nurses cannot travel in single file like sheep.

One day this week a colored preacher drove into town with a two-horse load of watermelons. He struck one man who felt like he would like to encourage the parson and proceeded to buy half a dozen. The parson picked them out for him, assuring him that he appreciated his patronage and that he would find the melons fine. When cut they resembled a cross between a gourd and a squash.

Mr. Leon Cowan, who for the past several months has held a position with the Pope Drug Company, left this week for Hamlet where he will spend the remainder of the month with relatives. From there he will go on September 1st to Roxboro to take a position with a large drug store. During his stay in Lumberton Mr. Cowan by his uniform courtesy and general manner, made many friends who sincerely regret his departure and will wish for him unbounded success wherever he may go.

If Old Mother Eve could appear on the streets here some of these fine afternoons and behold what the people of this day and time are beholding, many are of the opinion that she would admonish some of her children to hunt fig bushes and keep themselves hid until the closed down cotton mills could get busy and furnish substitutes for fig leaves.

For the second time since we can remember we have seen the court house yard plowed up. Several years ago it was planted in peas, and we suppose it was done again this week as it was newly plowed. During the Fall grass will be sown and shrubbery set out. With proper care in a few years it will be a beautiful lot. But in the meantime, if some provision for water could be made, and seats placed under the shade trees it would be mighty nice.

Sheriff McNeill has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be carried to Red Springs yesterday. His son, Mr. Geo. K. McNeill, came over from Rowland and carried him in his automobile. Sheriff McNeill hopes to be able to resume his duties at the court house by September 1st.

"Col." Jones, colored, wanted here for some time to answer the charge of retailing, was arrested in Hamlet yesterday, and Deputy T. C. Barnes left on the evening train for that place to act as escort for the colonel to Lumberton. They arrived last night and the colonel is resting in jail.

Necessary papers went to Raleigh yesterday for the incorporation of a new grocery firm for Lumberton, composed of Messrs. C. G. Stephens, D. E. Nance and W. G. Nance. Mr. Stephens will be president and Mr. D. E. Nance secretary and treasurer. The business will be conducted at the place at present occupied by Mr. Stephens.

The passenger train on the Raleigh & Charleston last Sunday could easily be called a combination in some respects. It was made up of R. & C. coaches. Seaboard engine, a Southern engineer was at the throttle and a yard conductor from Marion was punching tickets.

Large crowds took advantage of the opportunity of seeing "The Life of Moses" in motion pictures the last two nights. They were the finest pictures ever seen here and those who failed to see them missed a whole lot.

On Monday, August 28th, a colored excursion will be run from Hamlet to Wilmington, leaving Hamlet at 6 o'clock A. M. The fare from Lumberton will be $1.00 for the round trip. On Wednesday, August 30th, an excursion will be run from Wilmington to Lenoir, leaving Wilmington early in the morning and arriving at destination at 5 P. M. The train will pass Lumberton at 9:10 A. M. and the fare for the round trip will be $5.00. The tickets will be good for 10 days, passengers being allowed to return on any train leaving during the ten days.

There was a large and enjoyable picnic at Ten Mile Thursday. Hon. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn, was the orator of the day, and delivered a fine address on drainage. The speaker was introduced by Mr. E. M. Britt, of Lumberton. A bountiful and unusually fine dinner was served by the good people of that section and a day of real pleasure was spent by all who attended.

Mrs. Belle McMillan and daughter, Miss Flora Neal, and Miss Josie McNeill left yesterday for the mountains to spend some time.——The family of Mr. A. T. Parmele and Miss Mittie Harris returned this week from Newton, where they spent two weeks.——Mr. Wm. Dougherty and family have gone to Black Mountain for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Townsend spent Thursday and Friday in Wilmington. They returned Friday evening accompanied by Mrs. Townsend's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, of Morganton, who went down on the Johnson City excursion. Mr. and Mrs. Woodward will spend several days here before returning home.

Messrs. White & Gough returned Thursday evening from New York, where they spent two weeks on business.

The town authorities have decided to erect at once a number of closets at the new town building at the foot of Fourth street on the bank of the river. The work can't be done any too soon.——Chief of Police Redfern is spending his vacation in Anson county, accompanied by his family. During the chief's absence Policeman Strain is acting chief.

Mr. R. S. Sledge, manager of the Lumberton Drug Company, left yesterday for Danville, Va., in response to a message that one of his children was very sick. Mrs. Sledge and children have been visiting relatives in Danville for the past month.

The Maxton baseball team came down Wednesday and played the home team, the result being 6 to 1 in favor of Lumberton. The Clarkton team played here yesterday, the game being won by the home team by a score of 7 to 4.

Rev. Fred Collins will preach at the First Baptist Church tomorrow morning and evening, and Rev. E. M. Hoyle will preach at the Methodist Church at 11 A. M., but there will be no service in the evening.

Rev. Father Gallagher, of Wilmington, will conduct services for the Catholic congregation at the Opera House at 7:30 A. M. and will preach at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Mr. J. R. Proctor and Miss Rady Carter, of Alfordsville, were married here yesterday morning in the court house, Justice A. E. White performing the ceremony.

Messrs. McIntyre and Lawrence returned yesterday evening from Raeford where they attended the first court of Hoke county. Three murder and one assault cases was tried, the defendants all being found guilty. One murderer got 30 years in the penitentiary, two got two years each, and a white man got 10 years for assult.

The Pullman cars which were wrecked near Allenton Thursday were gotten up yesterday and carried to Hamlet. W. O. Watts, fromerly of the Wilmington police force, is in town this morning and states that he was badly injured in the wreck, having been a passenger on the train. Watts says his hip is still black and that he was otherwise injured. Two or three people who were on the "Taft Special" in 1909 from this section, are the pictures of despair. Their faces show plainly that they would have been passengers Thursday if they could have foreseen the wreck.

The trains on the Wilmington division of the Seaboard are now handled by phone instead of telepraph. The service was installed here about ten days ago and already the Lumberton phone is out of commission, the trouble supposed to have been caused by lightning yesterday afternoon.

From some unknown cause the Star for Lumberton last Sunday morning was carried by and returned on the next train. All were carried by except those handled by carrier. This statement is made in order that subscribers may understand that the trouble was not in the Star office or the Lumberton postoffice.

Coincidence in Deaths.

A queer coincidence attends the death of Rev. J. H. Hammond of Great Comberton, near Pershore, England, who was killed when flung from his horse a few days ago. Curiously enough the two previous rectors of Great Comberton met their death in a similar manner.

WATCH TABOR GROW

Live Columbus Town to Have Its Own Paper—Industrial Advocate

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Tabor, N. C., Aug. 19.—A stock company has been organized at Tabor with capital stock of $1,000, all subscribed, which will probably be increased for purpose of publishing a newspaper and doing a general printing business. Tabor is rapidly developing into one of the most prosperous and growing towns in Columbus county. Three or four years ago Tabor was only a small dot on the map. Now it is causing other towns to sit up and take notice. It now boasts of being the largest and best strawberry market in North Carolina. The past season the Tabor berries brought more on the northern markets than those of any other section. There are now thirteen brick stores in Tabor and two more under course of construction. An enterprising set of town officers have recently been elected and they are doing much for the town.

The management of the Industrial Advocate, realizing the strategic position of Tabor, and because of the substantial encouragement received from its citizens decided it to be the best place to locate. Every business man in the town is financially interested in the enterprise, which spells success from the beginning. Dr. J. W. Floyd, one of the most enterprising and influential citizens of the county, will edit the paper and Mr. W. R. Holmes, of the Industrial Advocate staff, will be manager.

Wanted Corroboration.

"Now, Rastus," roared the major, "what is the use? Don't you know that I know you are lying?" "Yas-suh," replied Rastus; "but yer see, Marse Henry, I kind o' thought I'd like to hab yo' opinion on de subject befo' I decided dat I was lyin' fo' sho' mahself. Now dat yo' says I is, Marse Henry, I jest reg'larly knows I is, suh."—Harper's Weekly.

The Craze for the Weird.

The artistic craving today is for novelty—for new expressions of form and combinations of color, the more strange and weird the better; hence the passing fashion for post-impressionism and other kindred cults, in which neither truth nor beauty is the inspiring motive.—Connoisseur.

Good Idea in Belgium.

At Brussels a central library, consisting at the outset of 10,000 volumes, is to be created, and any inhabitant of any part of Belgium who owns a postoffice savings bank book will be entitled to borrow from it and receive by mail any book for a fortnight.

A Sure Way.

Willis—I wonder if there will ever be universal peace.

Gillis—Sure. All they've got to do is to get the nations to agree that in case of war the winner pays the pensions.—Puck.

Gentle Intercourse.

Mr. Jones—"Mrs. Brown and her next door neighbor, Mrs. Green, don't speak any more." Mrs. Smith—"That's good; the rest of the neighbors will now be able to take a nap in the afternoon."

Ambiguous.

When "Bob" Burdette was addressing the graduating class of a large eastern college for women, he began his remarks with the usual salutation, "Young ladies of '97." Then in a horrified aside he added, "That's an awful age for a girl."

Dry Roots.

Dry roots make an intensely hot fire with no smoke, so watch your drift pile, as they are sure to be there, as they are light as a cork and porous as a sponge.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c. at R R. Bellamy.

S.S.S. FOR SCROFULA NATURE'S PERFECT CURE

Swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, running sores and abscesses, pale, waxy complexions and frail, poorly developed systems, are the most usual ways in which Scrofula is manifested. In some cases the blood is so filled with the scrofulous germs that from birth the disease shows its presence. In other cases it is held in check during young, vigorous life, but when the system begins to weaken, especially after a spell of sickness, the disease will often manifest itself in some form. S. S. S. is Nature's perfect cure for Scrofula, made entirely of healthful roots, herbs and barks, a perfectly safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and drives out all scrofulous matter, and supplies the blood with the healthful, vigorous qualities it is in need of. In this way it builds up weak, delicate persons and makes them strong and healthy. S. S. S. cures Scrofula because it is the most perfect of all blood purifiers. Book on the Blood and medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE MORNING STAR

Published by the WILMINGTON STAR COMPANY, INC., Wilmington, N. C.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., under Act of Congress, March 2nd, 1874.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily except Monday, at $6 per year, $3 for six months, $1.50 for three months; 50 cents for one month, served by carriers in the city, or by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application, and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate, and like matter, will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, or if paid cash in advance, a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under same conditions, except so much thereof as may be of news value to readers of the paper.

Advertisements discontinued before expiration of contracts are charged transient rates for time actually published. Payment for transient advertisements must be cash in advance. Contract advertisers will not be allowed to exceed their space at same rates or advertise anything foreign to their regular business without extra charge. Advertisements to occupy special place will be charged for according to position desired.

TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 51; Editorial and Local rooms, No. 61. Call either, if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interest, are not wanted; and if acceptable in every other way, they will invariably be rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

How about those Winter visitors to follow up our Summer visitors?

Dr. Wiley testified like they just about had the can tied to him.

"Snobs snub people" says a contemporary. Well, why not snub the snobs?

Congress will adjourn next Wednesday, but Col. Roosevelt will continue to hold a secret session at Oyster Bay. Col. Bryan never adjourns.

Says the New York Herald: "A man in Mississippi maintained four households for eighteen years." No doubt the high cost of maintenance finally brought him to the end of his row.

A New York paper contains an advertisement offering "new ladies' Fall hats." We should suspect that most of the new ladies have not yet returned from their jaunt as Summer girls.

It is said there are 13 Democratic eligibles for the Presidency. That means bad luck for 12 aspiring gentlemen, unless one of them cuts it down to eleven by accepting the Vice Presidential nomination.

The extra session of Congress is about to close. The Democrats and Insurgents can go home and tell their constituents how it feels to be ridden by Taft to the political Eldorado and then be hitched just on the outside.

President Taft seems to think that little old tariff board has more weight than the Congress which represents the people. It's a pretty come to pass that Congress can create a board which has more influence with the President than Congress itself.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of some of the counties to reduce the tax rate because assessed values have shown a great increase If the taxing system could be so adjusted that the State would not get too great a proportion of the taxes of a county, it would be a good idea to let the tax rate remain sufficient to raise needed funds for better schools and good roads.

Twenty thousand visitors spending $5 each in a city is an asset equaling a factory which has a pay roll of $100,000 a year. One thousand visitors who spend $100 each in a season would mean the same, and so forth. How many visitors have come to Wilmington's seaside resorts this season, and what is our sea breezes and surf worth as an asset? What kind of an asset are we going to make out of our delightful Winter climate which would every Winter attract hundreds and thousands of people to Wilmington?

The crop boosting of the Agricultural Department at Washington played smash with the cotton growers, causing a loss of $20 a bale since the Department prediction of a 14,000,000 crop. As a matter of fact, that was a purely wild-cat estimate, actually figured up while some of the cotton planted had not come up out of the ground. Later indications point to the fact that if we get only an average crop we will be lucky, and if that is the case the cotton growers can not afford the loss which would result from selling cotton at the slump price. The Star, therefore, heartily endorses the movement to so regulate the sale of the new crop as to make it bring at least 12 1-2 cents per pound. The spinners took the 1910 crop at an average of 14 cents and converted every bale of it as fast as it was put on the market. No effort should be spared to make this crop bring a good price, for 10 or 11 cent cotton would be a big blow to our prosperity.

NOT WILMINGTON'S FAULT.

Just as we had expected, Major D. P. McEachern was mistaken in his recent publication in the Red Springs Citizen reflecting upon Wilmington's hospitality towards the Red Springs Camp, U. C. V., at the State reunion held in Wilmington, August 16th and 17th, 1901. His animadversion upon Wilmington astonished us, for we knew too well the reputation of this city for her hospitality on all occasions, and least of all we could not bring ourselves to the point of accepting any statement that there was lack of hospitality and attention for Confederate veterans, for of all the Southern cities in which it has been our good fortune to do newspaper work, notably in Atlanta, Columbia and Wilmington, we have not known one which so venerates the veterans of the Lost Cause as does Wilmington. If there is any such thing as "hero worship" it is to be found in this city, especially for the veterans in gray, the greatest soldiers and most sacrificing heroes of modern times.

Being fully aware, from 23 years residence in Wilmington, that if the old soldiers were the guests of this city, it was impossible for them to have been neglected, we looked back over the files of the Star to get at the facts. We, therefore, asked Major McEachern for a bill of particulars, and this is what he says in his column in the Red Springs Citizen of the 10th instant:

"The editor of the Wilmington Star calls upon the editor of this department to explain his criticism in last week's Citizen in regard to Wilmington's lack of hospitality at the meeting of the veterans there some years ago. We thank Editor Clawson for his pleasant remarks in regard to us personally, and presuming that he is either a very young man or a comparative stranger, we take pleasure in complying with his request for an explanation of our remarks, otherwise we would treat it with silence, because at that time it was well known and felt by most veterans, who didn't wear shoulder straps, that we as an organization were practically ignored by the people of Wilmington. The place of rendezvous was at the beach, and we saw but few citizens from the city that day. The second day there came a goodly number of citizens principally, we suppose, to hear Gen Ransom speak. We met a number of old veterans, who having received free transportation and expected to be entertained by the city, were in a state of starvation, having no money of their own. This condition of affairs was known to all men, and so indignant was Camp Ryan No. 417 that resolutions were passed in condemnation of our treatment. It would have been better for the Star to have passed this phase of the subject over in silence, as we read that Wilmington on this last occasion did herself proud. Had he been an old citizen he would have been willing for the dead past to bury its dead. Not only were there criticism from this camp, but it was the universal complaint of most of whom we came in contact."

Looking up the facts in the case, we find that the North Carolina National Guard had its encampment at Wrightsville, in Latimer's grove, camping by regiments, beginning July 10 and ending August 7th. In the meantime, it seems that prominent Confederates up the State conceived the idea of an encampment for the Confederate veterans and it was considered a capital idea to give the veterans an outing at the seashore. Consequently, Gen. Julian S. Carr, commanding the North Carolina Division, U. C. V., made arrangements with the State to grant the veterans the use of the tents and camp equipment used by the State Guard. It was accordingly arranged for the veterans to go into camp just as soon as the State Guard broke camp.

The State troops broke camp August 7th, and the veterans arrived in Wilmington and went into camp August 14th, remained in camp August 15th and 16th, and broke camp August 17th. They were in camp only two days, and the reports in the Star show that the number encamped was estimated at 500. We well remember that encampment of the veterans, and as a newspaper representative we reported the doings of the veterans. Senator Matt W. Ransom delivered an address to them on the afternoon of August 15th, and it was our privilege to have been present to hear his masterful speech and eloquent tribute to the Confederate soldier.

Senator Ransom's speech was not only heard by the old soldiers, but by an immense crowd of Wilmington people who visited the veterans' camp that day. Special trains carried the crowds that went down to visit the camp and to hear the distinguished Ransom deliver what was a notable and profound speech. We recollect that part of it as if yesterday and we will never forget the pathetic spectacle we witnessed when, two by two, the one-legged, one armed and maimed veterans fell in and marched to the stand where Senator Ransom delivered his address. We never before witnessed in the aggregate the sorrows of war as pictured in the maimed soldiers in ranks, for we never saw so many at one time, armless and legless, and we never expect to see the like again. We do not recollect about the visitors to the camp the second day, but on these occasions there generally is a crowd of people going and coming all day.

Now as to any neglect that the Red Springs veterans may have experienced, it certainly cannot be laid to the door of Wilmington. We grant that the bad condition, spoken of by Maj. McEachern might have existed in the Red Springs Camp, but, if so, it was a reflection on the officers of that camp and certainly not upon Wilmington. It is hard to conceive how, in only two days, any number of the veterans from Red Springs "were in a state of starvation." If they were in such sore straits, they neglected to forage or else their officers left them to shift for themselves. It was the duty of their officers to have provided for them, or to have seen that they provided for themselves, for the "General Orders" for the encampment, issued by General Carr a few weeks before the encampment, plainly stated that. This from the columns of the Star of August 3rd, 1901, surely will clear the skirts of Wilmington:

"From all over the State comes encouraging reports for the encampment of the Confederate veterans of North Carolina at Wrightsville Sound, on August 14th. It is confidently expected that fully a thousand of those 'who wore the gray' will be in attendance and that the reunion will surpass all efforts of former years. Veterans in nearly every county in the State have taken hold of the encampment idea and it looks as if all the camps in the North Carolina Division will be well represented, to say nothing of many old soldiers who will come down from communities in which there is no organization. Charlotte, Raleigh and all the larger towns are making unusually elaborate preparations for the event.. Maj. H. A. London, of Pittsboro, was in Raleigh Thursday, and is thus quoted by the News and Observer:

"'A great feature,' said he, 'will be the address to be delivered by ex-Senator Ransom. I have just had his acceptance of our invitation to speak and this is very gratifying. He will speak on Thursday, August 15th, and his presence and address will attract many who otherwise would not go. It will be the last opportunity which some of the veterans will have of meeting General Ransom, and they are going to be there.' 'Here is something I wish to say,' continued Major London. 'It is that we suggest and urge all veterans, as far as possible, attend the reunion in bodies and bring their own cooks along. All that the State will furnish will be tents, stoves and cooking utensils, and the food and its preparation will be looked after by those who attend. I urge that they make their preparations in advance so as to have no inconvenience or discomforts while in camp'."

Major London, as adjutant, on the staff of General Carr, made that statement to the News and Observer more than two weeks before the veterans' encampment, and he did so to refresh the minds of the veterans about General Carr's "general orders," so that all could understand what would be expected of the State and what each camp must do for itself.

As a matter of fact, the veterans on that occasion were not the guests of the city of Wilmington or of Cape Fear Camp No. 254, U. C. V., of this city. It seems to have been a sudden decision on the part of the officers to secure the State tents and have an outing, and indeed, if it had been up to Wilmington to have fed the five hundred men, it would have taken time to have made the arrangements. In fact, no city in the State could have succeeded in doing the nice thing on such short notice. Nevertheless, the veterans' camp was visited by our people, as the files of the Star of August 15th, 1901, contained this reference to the encampment:

"Every train yesterday increased the crowd of veterans and their friends, who are here and at the Beach and sound for the reunion at Wrightsville. It is conservatively estimated that the number of veterans alone, already here, will reach five hundred, and this number is expected to be increased to fully one thousand today. At the camp last night, of course, everything was in confusion on account of the late arrival of a majority of the delegations, but today will find the old soldiers observing strict routine and enjoying themselves as only veterans of a civil war can. General Carr, commanding the Division, is already on the grounds and Adjutant General H. A. London, his chief of staff, is also here. Most of the brigade commanders and their adjutants are also in the city and in camp. The local entertainment committee is doing its full duty and Cape Fear Camp, of this city, is well represented in camp."

This is the case for Wilmington.

AFTER OUR BIG GUNS.

The recent incident involving the removal of the big mortar guns from Fort Caswell to some fort on the Massachusetts coast, serves to show what will happen to us if we do not look out for ourselves. Much feeling was manifested in Wilmington over what appeared to be dismantling the fartification here for the benefit of a fortification in a more favored part of the country, and the circumstance goes to show that Wilmingtonions' harbor a loyal jealousy that no one dare arouse without hearing from it.

Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of the corps of engineer, U. S. A., has explained that the exchange in ordnance would not be for old guns, but for new guns of less bore and as good as the others. However, that is an explanation that does not exactly satisfy, for we want our modern guns with the big bore. We are big bore people and unless some enemy is about to tackle New England we can see no necessity for swiping our big guns, probably just to please some Senator of Congressman who is looking out for Massachusetts. If Massachusetts really needs any guns like those at Fort Caswell, why she should have some like them, but she certainly ought not to either requisition or purloin what belongs to Wilmington.

For our part, we are glad Senators Simmons and Overman and Representative Godwin are looking into this Fort Caswell matter, and it is hoped they will make such a noise about it as to give the Washington authorities to understand that they should not do anything that seriously affects this port until after consulting the North Carolina delegation at Washington.

This is not the first time that Wilmington has had to defend itself from what appeared to seriously affect the interests of the port. A public spirited citizen reminds us that it has not been so very long ago that the Light House Board at Washington published their outrageous intention of removing our new lightship "Knuckle Shoals" to a point thirty miles from the Cape Fear bar, whereas the bill which passed Congress, after strenuous efforts of influential Wilmington people and assistance from Senator Overman, provided for a lightship to be placed near Knuckle Shoals where it would best safeguard shipping interests of the port. The commercial and marine men in Wilmington and Southport got together to resist the proposed removal of the lightship and it is hoped that the result will not be disappointing to them. The shipping interests at this port are too great for the Light House Board to persist in a course so unnecessary, and a careful examination into the matter will convince them that the contemplated removal of the lightship would be detrimental to navigation without any equivalent benefit.

As to the report that obsolete, cast iron guns would be sent to Fort Caswell in exchange for our modern guns, telegrams, letters and newspaper clippings have been forwarded to Senators Overman and Simmons, protesting against such an injustice. The War Department should understand that our patriotism and port pride will not permit us to put up with junk. We san't stand for discrimination and imposition, and as this is the only port in North Carolina and one of the most important on the South Atlantic, we do not propose to be indifferent to our privileges and rights.

THE BIG GAME ABOUT PLAYED.

Do you remebber that The Star long ago predicted what would become of the farmers' free list bill and other legislation revising the tariff. Not only has President Taft vetoed the compromise wool revisal but on Friday he cut the jiblets out of the farmer's free list bill. He pruned it with a veto, but it might have been different had the Democrats joined Senator Simmons in tacking the farmers' free list on to the Reciprocity Bill so that President Taft could not have vetoed one without including the other.

The farmers' free list hit the manufacturer and that is the reason Taft and his supporters did not want it tacked on to reciprocity. A final analysis of the reciprocity treaty with Canada will reveal the fact that its principal benefits will accrue to the Hill lines and other railroads which will haul Canadian lumber and wheat into the United States; to American lumber manufacturers who own ninety per cent. of the Canadian timber supply, to the American flour manufacturers who do not care to be confined to their own country for their wheat supply; and to the meat packers who want Canadian free cattle, hogs and other animal products on the hoof. Protected manufacturers want free raw material, without any reduction on manufactured products, and if Canada ratifies the reciprocity pact consumers and farmers will be enabled sooner or later to see who gets the milk in the cocoanut. Sure, it is that reciprocity is a good thing if its benefits are equitably distributed, but reciprocity that benefits some interests and sections, and is detrimental to others, is not the kind of reciprocity that the masses of this country need and ought to have.

The extra session of Congress is about to come to a close, and the result shows that President Taft played a reciprocity card to catch suckers who consider it a step towards tariff revision, and he vetoed real tariff revision bills to hold the stand-patters in line. If he can ride two horses and win against Wilson, or Harmon, or Clark, or Folk, or Marshall, or other single-minded Democrats, he will rank as the champion straddler.

By the way, Taft has rather pulled the wool over the eyes of the Democrats and Insurgents and finally has refused to have any reciprocity dealings with them in return for their support of his reciprocity treaty with Canada. Nevertheless, they played into his hands on reciprocity but have made him show his hand on tariff revision. They have called his bluff, and if he can't out argue the Democratic nominee in the election next year he will go into history as a clever, one-term President.

The Hon. William J. Bryan denies that he had decided to be a preacher. This will be disappointing to those who hoped the pulpit would be in restraint of free and unlimited interference in politics. The Colonel is still in the ring and will be right there so long as the ropes don't give way.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It would certainly seem to be unfair to take the duty off of one line of manufactures and not off of another, and right here is where it occurs to us that the wool growers have a just kick.—Durham Herald.

It may be that Mr. Duncan was misrepresented by that Raleigh newspaper correspondent but those who know Mr. Martin know him to be one of the most conservative of newspaper men.—Durham Herald.

Poor old Taft! Poor, brave, kindly, trusting hoodwinked Mr. Taft! Not remembering his speech at Winona, in which he declared that the wool schedule was indefensible, or if he did remember it, not appreciating how bitterly the public feel over that monstrous and undisguised robbery, the President has allowed himself to be persuaded into vetoing a measure that, despite his opinion, lies exceedingly close to the hearts of a people already suffering under a burdensome and cruel cost of living. We do not know where Mr. Taft got his opinion that the American people are "deeply impressed with the conviction that the interests of the consuming public can be properly guarded only by revising the tariff, one schedule at a time, and then upon accurate and scientifically acquired information."—Richmond News Leader.

It was inevitable that the remarkable discoveries and invention of the last century should have an important influence on political thought. The broadening of avenues of communication, the advent of the telephone and the telegraph, of the steam railway and the motor car, meant the passing of isolation in civilization. Wheer a century ago the important events of the day could only be discused in the coffee houses of a capital, today they are the subject of conversation in every hamlet in the nation. Political criticism that was local has become national. The problem of government has been broadened. Where the applause of one city only had to be won a century ago, the applause of the nation has to be won today. Even in France, a mob in Paris no longer means the downfall of the government. The government can discover what public opinion is in every nook and corner of the land. The immediate mob cannot illusion or dumbfound it.—Charleston News and Courier.

Democrats reading of the victory of their party in the Senate Thursday will not give away to transports of jubiliation. The joy of the Stand-pat Republicans was too apparent not to start a train of sober second thought in the gentlemen of the minority party placed momentarily in control of legislation. While the record is clear that the Democrats can be charged with no breach of faith with their sometime Insurgent allies, the record is also clear that the Regulars, or Stand-patters, used them for the humiliation of La Follette and his following and the anger of the latter is human if not justifiable. In a broad view of the political situation, the Democrats and the masses of the American people have nothing to hope from Senator Penrose and those for whom he speaks—including the President of the United States—while the Insurgents may be regarded as at least capable of a degree of unselfish legislation however their attitude toward Canadian reciprocity may have belied that favorable assumption.—Columbia State.

A short time ago announcement was made that an English syndicate of cotton mill owners had purchased 32,000 acres of land on the Delta, where they will grow cotton. Now the report comes that a Dutch syndicate has purchased 8,000 acres. This means of course, that the mill men in both countries have given up the hope of growing cotton in their colonies and recognize that the South has a monopoly in land and climate (both must unite) in the cultivation of the sort of cotton demanded by the world. Egypt will continue to grow certain fine cotton and some little will be produced elsewhere, but it seems now certain that the Southern States must grow the staple to clothe the world. Every year cotton is taking the place of silk and wool and there are new demands for our fleecy staple. This fact should cause Southern farmers to be slow to sell their product this year at the price the speculators will try to fix. Fortunately for North Carolina, its farmers this year have raised more hog and hominy than ever before and will therefore be better able to dispose of their cotton crop gradually so as to get the best price for it.—Raleigh News and Observer.

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES CONFER

Board of Education and District Committeemen Meet and Discuss Matters—Improve Water Supply—Rural Teachers

The County Board of Education, represented by Chairman J. O. Carr and Mr. J. G. L. Gieschen, and the district committeemen of nearly every rural district in the county held an important joint conference at the Court House yesterday morning for the purpose of considering a number of matters of mutual interest in the conduct of the schools of the county. It is believed that splendid results will be obtained from the conference, which lasted for about two hours. The committeemen showed more interest than usual and it is a safe bet that they returned to their homes resolved to be of greater service in the cause for education in their respective districts than they have ever been before.

The meeting was calld to order by Prof. Washington Catlett, the popular superintendent, and Chairman J. O. Carr, of the Board of Education, was then called to the chair and presided, while Prof. Catlett acted as secretary. The following committeemen were present: Mr. C. E. Bishop, Mrytle Grove; Messrs. B. M. Wilson and J. S. Pridgen, South Wilmington; Mr. J. H. Johnston, Wrightsboro; Mr. Richard S. Murray, Acorn Branch; Rev. Geo. W. Shepard, Jr., Messrs. J. R. Bell and Geo. T. Shepard; Mr. C. H. Alexander, Scott's Hill; Mr. Jas. O. Bowden Wrightsville; Messrs. Jas. A. Hewlett and Zora A. Sneeden, Greenville; Mr. H. B. Williams, Oak Hill.

Chairman Carr called attention to the adoption by the Board of Education at a recent meeting of resolutions providing that committeemen should meet in their respective districts at least once a month for the purpose of approving bills, etc., and the committeemen who expressed themselves said they thought this a splendid requirement and can but result in greater interest on the part of the committeemen.

Several committeemen expressed themselves as being heartily in favor of corn clubs as suggested by Prof. Catlett, who stated that already business men had promised to give prizes in the event the movement materializ ed. Similar clubs have been formed in other counties of this State and also in other States.

A report was received as to the sources of water supply for the various schools, white and colored, of the county, revealing that for one reason or another several schools have had to get water off the school premises, some times carrying it for some distance. The Board of Education has already set about to remedy this condition and will endeavor to give to each school water on the premises which will analyze pure. One or two schools in the county have drilled wells and two more have been authorized. At the meeting yesterday the committeemen in District 8, Oak Hill, were authorized to have pumps driven at both the white and colored schools in that district. It is believed that the water supply will be far more satisfactory this year than it has been in the past.

Chairman Carr called attention of the committeemen to the fact that in some of the districts the percentage of enrollement as well as average attendance is considerably less than it should be and urged them to use their best efforts in securing a more complete enrollment of the children of school age and a better average attendance. Some of the committeemen themselves were astonished at the poor average attndance in some districts. And too, it was evident that some of the committeemen had not performed their duties as they should in visiting and looking after the school property.

Dr. W. D. MacMillan, county superintendent of health, was present for awhile and made a most interesting and instructive talk to the committeemen with reference to sanitary matters in connection with the schools. Dr. MacMillan and Prof. Catlett, superintendent of public instruction and a member of the County Board of Health, will begin Tuesday an inspection of all the schools in the county. No public school in the county can lawfully open its doors for the term without first receiving the permission of the county superintendent.

A number of other matters of interest and concern to the workers in the cause of education were considered, after which the meeting adjourned about 12 o'clock.

Rural Teachers.

With the exception of three all the rural schools have reported to Prof. Catlett that they have selected their teacher or teachers for the year. Those reported up to noon yesterday are given below, the white schools being mentioned first in each instance:

District No. 3, Mrytle Grove, Miss Mary L. Lowder, of Kenansville; colored, Josephine Thomas.

No. 4, Masonboro, Miss Sallie O. Edwards, of Courtland, Va., principal; Miss Bessie B. Hayes, of Gatesville, assistant; colored, Demmie P. Smith.

No. 16, South Wilmington, Miss Julia Cameron, of Polkton.

No. 10, Castle Haynes, Miss Mary Shelton, of McIver; colored, Estelle S. Green.

No. 12, Wrightsboro, Miss Hattie V. Harrell, of Ahoskie, principal; Miss Meda Highsmith, of Parkersburg, assistant; colored, Mary K. Holland.

No. 6, Acorn Branch, Miss Edith Sidbury, of Scott's Hill; colored, J. J. Clemmons, Jr., principal; Theresa 1. Pierce, assistant.

No. 13, Middle Sound, no white teacher yet reported; colored, Susan M. Holt.

No. 11, Scott's Hill, Miss Bessie Worley, of Pink Hill; colored, Carrie Pierce.

No. 5, Wrightsville, Miss Etta Jones, of Pink Hill, principal; Miss Mary Hines, of Turkey, N. C., assistant; colored, Ellen N. Story.

No. 14, Greenville, Miss Kara Reid, of Silver Hill, principal; Miss Mary Bryan, of Buie's Creek, assistant; colored, Mollie Matthews.

No. 15, Delgado, Miss Florence L. Grant, principal; Miss I. Grace Boyette, of Warsaw, assistant.

No. 8, Oak Hill, Miss Aleph Cason, of Newbern; colored, Bessie Sanders.

No. 9, Carolina Beach, Miss Elizabeth Southerland, of Kenansville; colored, Laura Geyer.

The three white schools which have not yet reported to Prof. Catlett the selection of a teacher are District 17, Winter Park Gardens; No. 13, Middle Sound, and No. 7, East Wilmington.

Severe Hookworm Case at Marine Hospital Improving—Another.

Several weeks ago the local papers mentioned a severe case of hookworm disease that was taken into the Marine Hospital in this city, at the request of the State Board of Health. The case had been given up as fatal by the family of the patient. The boy is 16 years old and when brought to the hospital weighed only about 61 pounds and when his condition was estimated under the miscroscope it proved to be only 14 on the basis of 100. He was brought to the hospital on a stretcher.

According to information obtained at the hospital yesterday afternoon, the boy has gained over six pounds in weight and his blood has increased from 14 to 20 on a scale of 100. His bloated condition is rapidly decreasing and an enormous ulcer which he has had for eight years is healing.

The case has attracted considerable interest and several local physicians who have seen the patient seem to hope that he will recover. While no definite statement as to recovery is given out at the hospital, it is clear that the case is being viewed somewhat more favorably than when the patient was first brought to the city. The boy is not yet entirely "out of the woods" and the question of unfavorable complications is, of course, still a little uncertain, but if he continues to improve as he has done thus far, and if no unforeseen and unfavorable complication arises, it is hoped that the boy can be sent home after a few weeks further treatment.

From July 1st until Saturday afternoon the hospital had had over 100 admissions of patients suffering from parasitic infection. Five different types of disease were represented among these cases, but the majority of them were hookworm disease.

From one boy who came in from the country with a severe infection of hookworm disease, 2,246 parasites were obtained in one day.

NEGRO YOUTH DROWNED

"Alligator" Got in Water Too Deep For Him in River.

A negro youth whose last name is Gibson, but commonly known among his friends and acquaintances as "Alligator," was drowned in the Cape Fear river about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon while in bathing near the edge of the wharf at the foot of Red Cross street. The youth's nickname was a misnomer, for unlike the alligator Gibson was unaccustomed to the water, not even being able to swim a stroke, so it was stated to those who saw him in the water. A white boy who could swim was in with him but was some distance away. The water is shallow near the wharf, but just a few feet away it is 10 or 15 feet deep and dips off suddenly from the shallow to the deep water. Gibson must have slipped or miscalculated as to the point where the deep water begins. It was stated by one at the scene that the body came to the surface three times.

Word was passed around that the negro youth had been drowned and a number of persons soon gathered. Mr. James Chadwick, a car inspector for the Atlantic Coast Line, who was a short distance away, soon recovered the body with a pair of large tongs. Patrolman Chas. E. Wood was notified and went to the scene. He in turn called Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, who gave permission for the removal of the body, which was turned over to Alex. Davis, the colored undertaker, who prepared it for burial. The negro appeared to be about 18 years old.

THE RECORDER'S COURT

Several Colored People Up for Failure to Pay Dog Tax

The week-end session of the Recorder's court was without feature yesterday morning, with the exception of a number of the colored population who were before His Honor on charges of failing to pay the license tax on their respective canines. They were: Mary Jane Miller, Emma Hall, Carrie Lewis, Geo. Townsend and Nina Williams. In each case judgment was suspended on payment of costs provided the license tax of $1 be paid, and their dogs tagged.

Henry Whitfield, Louis Washington, John Washington, George McDonald and John McDonald, all colored, were charged with vagrancy. A nol pros with leave was taken in each case. Walter Bell, white, charged with disorderly conduct, was dismissed.

Magnolia Pierce and Mary Jewett, colored dames, will spend an enforced vacation of 30 days each on the county farm for conducting themselves in a manner deemed unladylike and in bad form by the police.

Ellington Case Postponed.

The case against James Ellington, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon his wife, Bessie Ellington, was set for trial before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, but the woman and her counsel failed to appear, as did counsel for Ellington, and Justice Harriss remanded the negro to jail until Monday at 12 o'clock and issued a capias for the woman. Ellington is alleged to have beat his wife over the head with a bed slat, inflicting a nasty gash several inches in length. The woman was carried to the James Walker Memorial Hospital and had her wounds treated. The hearing was postponed until she was able to appear in court. Yesterday morning she informed the officers that she desired the trial for the afternoon, and they do not know why she failed to show up.

County Commissioners.

A special meeting of the Board of County Commissioners has been called for next Saturday at noon to adopt a resolution as to the form of the bond and coupon for the $50,000 bond issue for road and bridges recently sold to the Wilmington Savings & Ttrust Co., at a figure slightly above par.

LUMBERMEN HOLD MEETING

Festive Sessions of Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo—New Members Initiated Yesterday Afternoon at Elks' Temple.

Assembled in a special called concatenation for the purpose of initiating new men into the mysteries of the organization, the members of Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo for the district of Eastern North Carolina, met in the Elks' Temple yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and received with divers and sundry dread and dark ceremonies a number of "kittens", adjourned late in the afternoon and proceeded to the Seashore Hotel, on Wrightsville Beach, where they enjoyed a "session on the roof," more commonly known as a banquet, lasting for several hours, being regaled with wit and humor galore, a most bounteous spread of good things and other sundries that do not come packed carelessly.

The Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo is composed of the lumbermen, the mill supply and machinery men of the entire United States. The order in North Carolina is divided into three districts and the one now at Wrightsville Beach is that for the district of the eastern part of the State.

On account of the desire for privacy the initiative ceremonies, which at first were scheduled to be held at the Seashore Hotel, were transferred to the Elks' Temple, these rooms being secured through Capt. Edgar L. Hinton, the popular and genial manager of the Seashore. At 4 o'clock the festivities were started and with faltering footsteps and halting besitancy six pitiable publind "kittens" were led through the mystic mazes in the gardens of Hoo Hoo land, to have their optics opened fully at the "onion bed". Mr. W. M. Stevenson, of Detroit, representative of the Supreme Nine, conducted the ceremonies in a manner that left nothing more to be desired by the hapless initiates. Mr. Stevenson was ably assisted by Mr. C. H. Richardson, of Washington, N. C., vice gerant snark for the Eastern North Carolina district. The officers who presided at the concatenation were: F. G. Buhman, of Hayden, N. C., snark; C. B. Russell, of Fayetteville, senior Hoo Hoo; W. M. Stevenson, of Detroit, junior Hoo Hoo; R. A. Damon, of Wilmington, bojum; C. H. Richardson, Washington, N. C., crivenoter; J. R. Fox, Newbern jabberwock; M. McMillan, Fayetteville, custocation; N. S. Richardson, of Dover, N. C., arcanoper, and O. G. Dunn, Newbern, gurdon.

Upon the conclusion of the joyous and festive affair at the Temple the gathering repaired to the Seashore for their "session on the roof," where the cats might yowl and perform other feline-like stunts in seclusion undisturbed by old shoes, empty bottles, talcum powder boxes and other missiles commonly used by the indignant wooer of morpheus when disturbed by the midnight serenade. In reality the banquet was held in the ball room of the hotel. The hours were from 8:30 until 10 o'clock and seldom has this room been the scene of a gayer gathering. About 25 lumbermen and representatives of the allied industries attended the concatenation and the banquet and enjoyed to the fullest extent the many good things provided by the management of the popular hostelry.

Although the "session on the roof" practicaly brought the concatenation to an end, the major portion of the Hoo Hoos will remain at the beach for the week-end, and some for a longer period.

Among the officials present at the concatenation are Mr. C. B. Russell, vice gurant snark for the central district of North Carolina, and Mr. D. W. Richardson, of Dover, past supreme bojum of the Supreme Nine.

The annual meeting of the Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo will be held at Detroit on Sept. 9th, the 9th day of the 9th month, and the delegates will enjoy a five-days' cruise on the steamer City of Cleveland on Lake Erie. A number of the North Carolina Hoo Hoos will attend the annual meeting, among them some of the delegates now at Wrightsville Beach, and they are looking forward to a most enjoyable time.

CORRECTION BY MR. MEARES.

In my recent interview in your paper of Friday, I said, "these are his estimates" (referring to Mr. Anderson, who prepared the sewer plans) "as to the cost of construction which, if not filed at the City Hall, are in the possession of Mr. Chas. W. Worth, the former chairman of the Water and Sewerage Commission." I had reference to certain memoranda of cost taken by Mr. Worth from a verbal statement by Mr. Anderson. I understand from him he has no official figures and none were made, as the Commission never decided upon what extent of sewers they could build, consequently, she says, Mr. Anderson could not have made these official figures. He did make a verbal statement as to the cost of the part considered, about 34 miles, and Mr. Worth for his own use, made a memorandum of the figures given. This, he says, he may have in his possession. They do not differ materially from those used by me in an extended article I published on the question some time since, as having been given me by Mr. Anderson, but, naturally, Mr. Worth does not wish to be placed in the position of retaining the official figures, if any were made, when they should have been retained on file. I did not so intend to suggest and gladly make the correction that no one may be misled.

ANOTHER NEGRO MURDERED

James Bennett Shot and Killed by Fred Brown, Following Dispute Over 20 Cents—Slayer Made Escape.

Following a dispute over a small sum of money, 20 cents, James Bennett, colored, about 30 years old, was shot and almost instantly killed by his pal, Fred Brown, about the same age, on the sidewalk in front of the store of Mr. Henry Woebse, corner Seventh and Nixon street, at 7:30 o'clock last night. After firing the fatal shot Brown left the scene, going, it was said, in the direction of Hilton, and although the police and county officers are searching for him he had not been captured up to a late hour last night.

Mr. Woebse is said to have been an eye-witness to the tragedy. He is quoted by an officer as saying that Bennett and Brown had a dispute over a small sum of money, and Brown told Bennett that he would go home and get his gun and shoot him. Good as his word, Brown went to his home, a short distance away, and returned with his pistol. He immediately opened fire on Bennett, a bullet penetrating his forehead, and at the crack of the revolver Bennett fell to the pavement, mortally wounded. Special Officer N. J. Williams happened to be in the vicinity and a few minutes after the tragedy occurred passed the scene. Noticing the crowd he made an investigation and upon learning the cause of the commotion he telephoned to police headquarters. A message was received from Councilman B. C. Moore just a few minutes before and Chief of Police J. J. Fowler and several officers hurried to the scene and began a search for Brown. Chief Fowler had the body of Bennett removed to his home about two blocks away. Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, was advised of the killing some time later and when he went in company with Mayor Joseph D. Smith, went to the scene he found that the body had already been removed. He made an examination of the remains and will summons a jury to convene at 10 or 11 o'clock this morning to inquire into the affair. It is understood that Chief Fowler had the body removed before the arrival of the coroner on account of the large number of negroes who had congregated in the street, interfering with traffic on the thoroughfare. Dr. Bell said last night that he thought a 38-calibre pistol was used by Brown.

The county officers learned of the homicide about 9 o'clock and joined in the search for Brown. Sheriff Cowan was telephoned at his residence on Greenville Sound and came to the city at once. He and Deputy Sheriffs Cox and Kelly and Constable Savage were out for several hours looking for the negro.

Chief of Police Fowler heard several reports as to the direction in which Brown went. He detailed officers in several directions hoping that one of the number would succeed in capturing the man. Mounted Officers J. H. Davis and R. S. Haddock were put to work in that vicinity, Officer Bullard was sent to Smith's Creek bridge, and still another was sent to Hilton bridge. Chief Fowler said that he could not ascertain definitely how many shots were fired. One man told him five, while another was sure that there were only three. He did not think that but one took effect. Probably 1,500 negroes, he said, gathered at the scene in a few minutes, and had the body not been moved when it was there might have been some disorder among the crowd. Brown, it was said, left the scene in a jiffy, after firing the last shot.

BUY NEW TUG BOAT.

Business of Wilmington Towing Company is Increasing.

The business of the Wilmington Towing Company has increased to such an extent during the past few months as to make the purchase of another tug boat absolutely necessary, so a few days ago the company acquired the tug Thomas Margan, which has been doing duty for some time at Charleston, S. C., and Capt. W. A. Sanders, manager of the company, is bringing the craft to this city to put her in service. The tug has recently been overhauled and has a new set of boilers as well as other new machinery. The boat has a gross tonnage of 52 tons and a net tonnage of 41 tons. It is 76 feet, 8 inches in length, 17 feet, 5 inches beam and seven feet draught. Capt. Fred Dosher, of Southport, will be placed in charge of the tug. This makes three tug boats owned and operated by the company, the other two being the Gladiator and the Blanche, commanded respectively by Capt. W. A. Sanders and Capt. W. F. Taylor.

LUMINA.

There scenes of festal beauty,
'Neath the crystal globes of light,
O'er old ocean far reflected
'Till the line is lost in night,
Where visioned spirits eternal,
Airy, fairy-huffed in lace,
Imparts a brilliant scene of grandeur
Full of motion's easy grace.

When the shimmering veil of glory
Out of Lumina's softened mist,
Then the billows sound the measure,
With a rythmic emphasis,
Scoring sweet ecstatic pleasure
Bar on bar, in lyric bliss,
At Lumina!

Ivanhoe, N. C., Aug 19.—Last evening beginning at 7 o'clock, a bazaar was held at the Ivanhoe Academy under the management of the Young People's Society of Black River Presbyterian church for the purpose of raising a part of the amount necessary for repainting their church. The academy was gracefully decorated with smilax and pine, and lighted with red lanterns. There were five booths and each was made individually attractive by the ones in charge. In spite of rain and threatening clouds in the afternoon ,there was a good attendance and the sales progressed steadily from the beginning until at an early hour nothing remained to be sold. Ham and chicken sandwiches, ice tea, lemonade, candy, ice cream and cake were the refreshments served. After the sales were ended, Mrs. David J. Sessoms, a most charming and accomplished matron of the community, delighted all present with several readings which were all too short. Mr. Geo. S. Beatty then expressed to the audience the thanks and appreciation of the Society for their attendance and their kind helpfulness in making the bazaar a success. A net profit of over $32 was realized.

ROMANTIC YOUNG PEOPLE PLIGHT THEIR TROTH.

Of surprising interest to a host of friends in this city and elsewhere was the marriage last night at 10 o'clock at the parsonage of Bladen Street M. E. Church, by Rev. W. L. Rexford, the pastor, of Mr. Geo. L. Hall, a popular young Wilmingtonian, and Miss Katherine Risley, an attractive young lady who has a host of admirers. The marriage came as the culmination of a pretty little romance in the lives of the young people, which is now all happily ended. Once afore, the young people had planned a clandestine match, but the best laid plans oft go awry, and it was so in this case. Last night, however, it was a case of "love and locksmith" and accompanied by a few friends the young people journeyed to the parsonage of Bladen Street Church and there in the presence of a happy company of young people, they plighted their troth in a quite but very pretty ceremony. Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Payne, Miss Mary Risley, a sister of the bride, and Mr. Frank Fergus, a friend of the groom. The young people received the happiest congratulations of their friends and in a few days will leave for Richmond and Washington, D. C., where they will spend two months, probably returning to the city after that date. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

—Mr. J. A. Sutton, postmaster at Elizabethtown, N. C., is spending a day or two in the city. He speaks interestingly of his town and its future, which is indeed bright with the advent of the railroad and its many natural advantages.

—Among yesterday's arrivals at the Orton were T. S. Perrin, Union, S. C.; A. E. Lynch, Florence; M. A. Whisnant, Florence; Capt. R. V. D. Corput, Fort Caswell; O. G. Dunn and N. S. Richardson, Newbern; E. J. Hill, Warsaw; D. W. Richardson, Dover.

—Mr. Henry L. Cumming, who has been visiting relatives here, left Friday for his home in Rincon-Antonea-Oax, Mexico, where he is chief engineer of the National Railway of Tehuantepec. He went to New York, thence by Ward line steamer via Havana to Vera Cruz.

—Miss Fannie Helton, an exceedingly popular young lady of Wilmington, left a few days ago for Thomasville, where she goes to become a teacher in the Baptist Orphanage. She is a most accomplished young woman and goes to an important work for which she is fitted by training and disposition.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mulford, Phoenix; Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Henderson, Rowland; R. D. Pridgen, Currie; Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Dunn, Southport; W. A. Prevatt, Mullins, S. C.; J. W. Darton, Fort Caswell; J. N. Murray and W. G. Averett, Fayetteville, were among yesterday's guests at the Southern Hotel.

—Miss Bessie R. Rea, of the millinery salon, No. 120 Princess street, will leave today for New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, where she will purchase her Fall stock of select millinery. She expects to be absent two weeks and while in the market will make purchases with a view of greatly enlarging her business.

At Fifth Street Church.

At Fifth Street Methodist Church, corner of Nun and Fifth streets, Rev. G. T. Adams, the pastor, will preach at 11 A. M., text, "They That Wait Upon the Lord Shall Renew Their Strength; They Shall Mount Up With Wings as Eagles; They Shall Run and Not be Weary, and They Shall Walk and Not Faint."—Isa. 40:31. Evening sermon, 8 P. M., text, "They Helped Everyone His Neighbor, and Everyone said to His Brother, be of Good Courage." Isa. 41:6. The church is well ventilated and supplied with fans. The public cordially invited to worship with us.

Played Double Header.

Delgado and South Wilmington baseball teams played a doubleheader yesterday afternoon. The first resulted in a victory for the Delgado team by a score of 3 to 2. Batteries, Delgado, Horn and Arthur; South Wilmington, Farrow and Tood. The second was called before it was completed on account of illness of South Wilmington player, the score being 2 to2 Batteries: Delgado, Carter and Horn; South Wilmington, Griffith and Todd.

LOCAL DOTS.

—By deed filed for record yesterday J. H. Tucker transfers to Susan A. Tucker Telfair and others, for $1, lot on Hanover Heights, same being on Wright, 66 feet south of 16th street, 33x91.5 feet in size.

—Adjutant and Mrs. Yates, formerly in charge of the local post of the Salvation Army, but now of Augusta, Ga., who are spending their vacation in this city, will conduct the services in the Salvation Hall, No. 205 Market street, at 8 o'clock tonight.

—Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer: "We are glad to note that Mrs. N. C. Pursell, of Bristol, Pa., who was taken sick on an incoming train here Thursday morning and carried to Highsmith Hospital, is doing nicely. Also, that her child is getting on well."

—Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer: "Messrs. McIlwinnen & Leggett of Seventy-First, today sent in the first bale of new cotton received on the Fayetteville market. It was consigned to Chas. Haigh, cotton buyer, and was not sampled and sold, but it will grade well. Mr. Leggett says that he has had this cotton out for several days, and could have sent in and had the first bale of cotton on the market in North Carolina."

CONCERTS AT LUMINA.

Splendid Programme for This Afternoon and Evening.

As usual, the programmes for the Lumina concerts this afternoon and night are made up of some very popular selections.

In the afternoon will be played the old loved Bridal Procession from "Lohengrin" by Richard Wagner. Lobengrin, which is indeed the most beautiful piece of work ever produced by this great artist. The Lumina Orchestra will no doubt render it in a very impressive manner. Some of the other selections for the afternoon are "The Dollar Princess," by Leo Fall, and a medley of "French Songs" by Arr. Recker.

The night programme offers another great production by Richard Wagner. This is a selection from Tannhauser called the "Evening Star." The Lumina patrons are very appreciative of the high-class music and it is expected that large crowds will go down to enjoy the entertainments both this afternoon and night. Among other numbers on the night programme are "Pique Dame," by Von Suppe, and "We've Kept the Golden Rule," by Remick.

DELGADO DEFEATED

South Wilmington Boys Put It Over Delgado "Hookworms."

The Delgado "Hookworms," the noted amateur team of this hustling village went down to defeat at the hands of the South Wilmington aggregation yesterday afternoon in a game played on the Delgado grounds. The game was close throughout, the final score being 2 to 1, and many starring features were brought out. The battery for Delgado was Hammond and Carter, while these positions were handled for the South Wilmington team by Todd and Griff.

..Theatrical..

As indicated, yesterday was one of the greatest days in the history of the Bijou. The usual incentive to go to that popular theatre was greatly strengthened by the announcement of presentation of the big and wonderful film, "The Battle of Bunker Hill," and little ones flocked to the theatre by the score. The film was truly a superb one, and not only stirred the hearts of the large audiences, but time and time again vigorous applause was given. The charge up the hill and the fierce struggle on the crest were indeed thrilling scenes. The rest of the programme was in true keeping with this splendid photoplay; consequently, the entire bill was a big and fine one and was greatly enjoyed. Tomorrow the Bijou will begin another week of tremendous artistic success, and, no doubt, of big financial triumph, which is the usual thing with this attractive amusement place. The films of the present week are all capital ones, and each bill will be of choice variety. The fun pictures will be of especially bright nature and will be prominently to the fore. The new bill will be opened at matinee tomorrow afternoon and the inauguration will be of glorious type, too. The music selected for the present week is of the merriest and catchiest kind, and will include all the latest Broadway hits. Of course, the Bijou will be delightfully comfortable. It is always the "cool spot" regardless of the altitude records the mercury tries to smash.

MORE FAVORABLE FOR COTTON

Confident Selling in the Market Yesterday—Close Was Quiet and Steady—Loss of Two to Sixteen Points.

New York, Aug. 19.—Reports of more favorable weather conditions in the Southwest, the rapidly increasing new crop movement and apprehensions that the depressing influence of English labor troubles on export business might bring some pressure of this cotton against contracts inspired more confident selling in the local cotton market today, and the close was quiet and steady, but from two to 16 points net lower, with September showing the maximum loss. The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of two points, although the Liverpool were a shade better than due, if anything and became easier right after the call. There was some support from leading bull sources but other spot interests were selling supposedly against Southwestern receipts and with private wires reporting rains in Texas, the scattered offerings of local professionals were more aggressive. At any rate prices eased off to 11.19 for October and 11.30 for December or about 10 to 14 points under the closing level of yesterday and last prices were only a point or two up from the lowest. Business was not general and was doubtless restricted by continued uncertainty over the crop as well as the English labor situation but with better weather reported in the southwest to relieve new crop apprehension and with trade reports generally unfavorable, it was rumored that some of the local houses which have recently been talking the possibility of a sharp rally were among the sellers this morning. The private wires reporting rains in the southwest were not officially confirmed, but temperatures were lower, and there seemed to be less nervousness as to the probable showing of the September condition figures. Private cables from Liverpool indicated that business in Manchester was practically at a standstill owing to the labor troubles and the steadiness of the Liverpool market was attributed by local sellers to bull support in the absence of general business.

Receipts at the ports today 15,296 bales against 5,299 last week and 6,826 last year. For the week 74,009 bales, against 36,188 last week and 55,476 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 101 bales against 62 last year an at Houston 10,449 bales against 6,584 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 12.50; middling gulf 12.75. No sales.

PROGRESS IN STOCK MARKET

Movement was Slow and Halting—Moving Toward Readjustment of Prices—Firmness Shown at Outset—Conditions.

New York, Aug. 19.—Further progress toward a readjustment of prices was made by the stock market today. The movement was slow and halting, however, and often failed to carry conviction such gains as were recorded resulting largely from covering of short contracts. It was observed that the list fell back whenever the needs of the bear faction were filled. Commission houses continued to report a dearth of business and it was evident that recent declines have induced no great amount of investment buying.

Firmness was shown at the outset, all the speculative leaders making substantial gains.

The local market was without any support from London, which was observing a holiday and had to depend on its own initiative. Sentiment was scarcely less pessimistic than it has been for the last three weeks and much of today's discouragement grew out of fresh rumors dealing with the labor situation.

The mercantile agencies agreed as to the better outlook for business especially in wholesale lines, and advices from the big distributing centers of trade in the Middle West and Southwest reported a more cheerful disposition on the part of buyers.

Bonds were steady, with no special feature. Total sales par value were $916,000. United States government's advanced 1-8 per cent. on the week. Total sales for the day 200,400 shares.

A Little "New Woman."

A tiny West Newton miss is responsible for the following version of the Adam and Eve story, we believe: "God made Adam and he put him in a big garden, an' Adam he was so, so lonesome; an' then he putted him to sleep, he did, an' then he took out his brains and made a woman of the brains, an' then Adam he wasn't lonesome any more."—Boston Transcript.

Punished for Yawning.

When Henry Brown of Brockton, Mass., awoke the other day he yawned, tried to close his mouth and could not. He had fractured his jaw. With his mouth wide open he walked more than a mile to a physician's office and had the fracture reduced. As he was leaving the office his jaws unlocked again. Finally he was placed under ether and the jaw permanently fixed.

Healthful Mattresses.

All children should have separate beds, if possible, and mattresses are far more healthy than feather beds. All counterpanes should be removed at night, for they are heavier than blankets, and not good on the bed during sleep.

Bad Blood.

Mr. C. J. Christian, of Americus, Ga., had serious blood trouble. Of his experience he writes: "My blood got wrong. Every little scratch made a bad sore. I had little risings or boils on my neck, and used several dollars worth of salves of different kinds without relief, receiving no benefit. Mr. Blanchard of the twice-a-week Press of this city, recommended K. E. B. P. I used two bottles and am well—sores and boils all gone, only a few scars being left on my neck and hands to show how much I suffered. I cheerfully recommend K. E. B. P. to all who are suffering from any kind of pains caused from impure blood."

"THE RECIPROCITY FRAUD"

Philadelphia North American Discusses "The Other Side."

(Philadelphia North American)

"The North American, like many other American newspapers of large circulation, will be a beneficiary of the measure. But we must repeat what we have said over and over again during the debates in Congress. That mrely because we consider honest and equitable a reduction of the paper schedule of the tariff which would save the North American large sums of money every year is no reason why this newspaper should give its endorsement to an agreement which is in our self-interest, but in nearly every other clause is a sham and a perversion of real reciprocity and an imposition upon millions of people. This would represent the measure of interest of most newspapers of large circulation.

"The manufacturer who purchases his raw material free with a high protective duty upon his manufactured product is another beneficiary under this 'Reciprocity fraud.' He buys wheat, cattle, sheep, hogs, and all farm products free of duty, from a people producing largely in excess of their needs, and at a much less cost of production than our American or home producer, he sells in a protective market and who suffers and who is benefitted thereby? The trusts, the interests are benefitted, the farmer, the producer suffers.

"Whatever favor this pact has found with the public rests upon the mistaken belief that it is the beginning of lower tariffs. Have we stopped to inquire if this pact is just and equitable? In haste, to get tariff reform the Democratic party in Congress seems to have allied itself with the old line Republicans to put through Mr. Taft's and Secretary Knox's scheme, which has the ear marks of a soothing balm to their Republican constituents, and the trusts. Final judgment will be passed by the people of our State, when they begin to understand where the responsibility for this measure rests. This bill places upon the free list the products of every farm in the country regardless of the cost of production. It denies the American farmer the small benefits of protective tariff in order to secure for the protected manufacturer a reduction of Canadian duties upon the surplus manufactured products he wishes to sell in Canada. It denies the American consumer all benefits from free agricultural products—wheat, corn, cattle and sheep, all of which are admitted free and which will first be turned into manufactured products by the trusts, the packers, the biscuit trusts, the Standard Oil Company. Combinations that absolutely control the prices of all finished articles before they reach the consumer. Of course, the manufacturers are happy over this passage. It has bought these concessions from Canada by giving her free admission to our markets of farm products at the expense of the American farmer.
A good bargain for the trusts;
A good bargain for the newspapers;
A good bargain for Canada;
A bad bargain for our farmers;
Nothing for our consumers.

"Who are the chief exponents of this "Fraud?" President Taft, who wants to go back, James J. Hill, president of the railroad lines that pierce the very heart of Canada, and who said 'why not let us knock off the shackles and let it move as men move; let it go free?' This is from his speech at Minneapolis, February 10, 1911.

"Those who hoped to get a tariff reduction by this "Fraud" knew they weer using the farmer as as their tool, that he had to bear the brunt of the fight and that this mighty fulcrum of tariff reform injustice rested upon his neck and that his children, his careworn wife and himself would be the sufferers. The people had a champion among the members of the Democratic party in the Senate, Simmons of North Carolina, who was right in his position and the people honor and respect him for his integrity.

The free list bill passed the Senate Tuesday. Now, Mr. Taft, it's 'up to you' "

Donaldsville, Ga., Aug. 19.—The indignation of the mob which killed three negroes and burned numerous buildings at Jackin, a small town near here yesterday, as a result of the killing of Marshal Newberry by a negro last Tuesday night, was reported somewhat abated today. Tonight quiet has been restored and the officers believe they are in position to control further disorders should any take place. The negro, West, Marshal Newberry's alleged slayer, has not been captured, but the search by officers continues.

New York, Aug. 19.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $31,797,100 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $10,203,600 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

FORTUNES UNDREAMED OF.

Billions to be Added to Value of Southern Farm Lands.

(From Manufacturers' Record.)

It is possible that within the next ten years the owners of farm lands of the South, in addition to the annual profit to be made by the cultivation of these lands, will make $5,600,000,000 by the increase in their value, bringing the value up to nearly $11,000,000,000. These stupendous figures illustrate the possibilities that may come to the owners of Southern farm lands. Not every land owner will share equally. Some will make more, and some will make less, but it is fair to say that ten years hence the agricultural lands of the South will have increased on the whole to such an extent that they will be worth from $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 more than they are worth today. This unearned increment, as it may be called, will add enormously to the wealth of the South.

Between 1900 and 1910 the average value per acre of the agricultural lands of the United States increased from $15.64 to $32.48. During the same period the average acre value of the South's agricultural lands increased from $6.88 to $15.84, making the average acre value of the agricultural lands of the South something more than the acre value of the lands of the United States ten years ago. It is safe to estimate that within the next ten years Southern lands will advance to at least the average acre value of the agricultural lands of the United States at present, bringing the acre value to $32.48, as compared with $15.84, the average last year.

As the South has at present about 340,000,000 acres of lands in farms, an additional value of $16.64 in ten years, bringing the average up to the present average of the United States, would make a total of $5,657,600,000 as the gain for ten years.

When once wealth begins to accumulate in a community rich in natural resources, the momentum increases on with tremendous power. The increasing wealth of the South is now proceeding at a rate that will make the momentum of the next ten years carry its growth far beyond anything that this section has yet had.

ENSIGN YOUNG IRRESPONSIBLE.

So Declared by Naval Medical Board at Norfolk, Va.

Washington, August 19.—Ensign R. S. Young, Jr., of Concord, N. C., who recently disappeared from the destroyer Perkins, leaving a note that he contemplated suicide and was later found by his father in New York City, has been decared by a naval medical board of survey at Norfolk, Va., to be mentally irresponsible for his act.

The Navy Department has ordered the young officer to the government hospital for the insane at Washington for observations and treatment. Previous to his disappearance Ensign Young was under orders for court-martial on charges of absence without leave.

He was examined by naval physicians to determine whether he should be prosecuted on hese charges. When found by his father he was taken to a North Carolina sanitarium and removed from there to Norfolk for the examination.

EMPLOYES LAID OFF

Union Pacific Dispenses With Services of 2,500 Temporarily.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 19.—At the offices of the general manager of the Union Pacific Railway Company tonight the information was given out that 2,500 employes of that road will be laid off next week, possibly Monday The reduction in forces will apply to all departments. The employes will not be discharged but will be laid off with no time set for their return. The action of the company is said to be due to the fact that since October business has been falling off.

KILLING AT FAYETTEVILLE.

Fatal Row Among Negroes—Three-Cornered Affair.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 19.—Clay Johnson was stabbed and killed by James Townsend in a three-cornered fight last night at Fayetteville, N. C., Adam Smith being the other participant. Smith has been arrested, but Johnson is yet a fugitive. The trouble occurred over women. All the parties are negroes.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The extraordinary session of Congress will adjourn either next Monday night or Tuesday afternoon. Both Houses have cleared their decks, save for the passage of the cotton tariff revision bill Monday, an act to be performed by the Democrats in the face of the announced intention of not waiting for the sure veto of the President.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 19.—With his feet tied together, E. R. Gwin, aged 27 years, of 711 Lee street, Berkley, late today swam a distance of more than a mile in 32 and one-half minutes. The same distance had been made without handicap by Miss Annie Morecroft in 25 minutes.

acing that it was necessary to read the riot act.

The rioting continued throughout the night and three more deaths were added to those of the afternoon, while many persons were injured. The casualties resulted from an explosion during a fire in the railway freight shed started by rioters.

The local mob was joined tonight by three thousand tin plate workers from the surrounding districts, and although 500 militiamen guarded the railway line the combined mob outmaneuvered them, tore up the tracks, looted a troop train and secured a large quantity of ammunition and then burned the cars containing the soldiers' equipment.

Afterwards the rioters marched into the town, broke into the office of a justice of the peace who had read the riot act and threw his goods into the street.

When the police and troops dispersed the rioters, they returned to the freight sheds and set fire to them. As the flames were licking up the buildings a series of explosions occurred.

The troops charged and drove back the rioters and the firemen put out the blaze.

Search of the ruins revealed three bodies. Both in the streets and railway sheds the soldiers were compelled to make a number of bayonet charges and many persons including women and children, were wounded.

FAMOUS FISH EATERS.

The Love of Sea Food Was a Mania In the Time of Lucullus.

Many famous persons both in modern and ancient times have been known as devoted fish eaters. Gatis, queen of Syria, was so fond of fish that she ordered all caught within the limit of her kingdom to be brought to her in order that she might be continually supplied with the choicest quality. Philoxenes of Cytheria, on learning from his physician that he must die of indigestion from having eaten excessively of a delicious fish, said, "Be it so, but before I go allow me to finish what remains."

Athens was a city of fish eaters, and its cooks were famous for their knowledge of cooking fish. The wise writers of the day spent much time in recording recipes for preserving fish in salt, oil or herbs. There was a law in the city that forbade a fishmonger to sit down until he had disposed of all his stock on the ground that a standing position made him more submissive and inclined to sell at a reasonable price.

The Romans inherited from the Greeks their love for fish. Rome's soldiers were fed on fish, her generals ate fish, her senators were epicures in fish, and her emperors recognized no dish more desirable than fish.

Lucullus caused a canal to be cut through a mountain near Naples to bring up the sea and its fishes to the center of the gardens of his sumptuous villa. The love of fish in those days was a mania. The red mullet was prized beyond all food. A sauce called garum, made from the entrails and blood of mackerel and other fishes, brought high prices, and great prizes were offered the man who could make a similar sauce out of the liver of the red mullet.

In more modern times kings have been known for their liking of fish. In the reign of Edward II. in England sturgeon could be served only on the king's table. In France fishmongers were licensed by the king. Louis XII. was so fond of fish he appointed six fishmongers to supply his table. Francis I. had twenty-two and Henry the Great twenty-four.

Under the reign of Louis XIV. fish eating became as popular at the French court as it had ever been in Rome. A story is told that when fish failed to arrive from the seacoast in time for a grand dinner being given by the Prince of Conde to the king the prince's chef, an illustrious purveyor of fish, was so chagrined he ran to his chamber, took his sword and pierced his heart.—Boston Globe.

Tragic End of Mademoiselle Lantelme. Liberville Has Glorious Memories—Capture of Dr. Richter—Prussia.

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, Aug. 19.—The death of few actresses have caused such a profound expression of regret and sadness as the tragic end of Mademoiselle Lantelme, who in private life was Madame Edwards, the wife of the man who founded the "Matin". Lantelme might be said to have been the great favorite of the Parisien theatre-goers.

She was young, talented and beautiful, with a personal mannerism and magnetism of speech and acting that not only caused admiration, but evoked something of a personal liking on the part of the thousands who went steadily to see her play. She was perhaps best known for her work in the celebrated Boulevard piece, "Le Bois Sacre." Her last appearance was in a sketch in a music hall on the Champs Elysees, where one of the other prominent features was a chatty burlesque on the visit to Paris of the American sailors. Some newspapers have thought to see a mystery in the death of Lantelme, but it seems established that she accidentally fell into the Rhine from a window of a houseboat to which she had gone for air during a fainting spell.

* * *

Libreville, the seaport which it was understood Germany wished France to cede to her, has many glorious memories. Towards the end of the last century a French warship cruising in those waters for the suppression of slavery, captured a vessel loaded with blacks who were at once liberated. They founded the town, and out of gratitude for the deliverance, called it Libreville. It has always been the capital of Gaboon and, until quite recently, was also the capital of the French Congo, before Brazzaville sprung up and developed so rapidly.

The roadstead is magnificent; it is one of the finest of all Western Africa. The town lies hidden in the rank vegetation of a tropical forest; here and there a few white dots peep from among the leafage.

Over the whole region lies the memory of Savorgnan de Brazza, the explorer. The story of how he first saw the great Congo river is one of the most exciting in the annals of African discovery.

Leaving the coast with the purpose of finding a way to the basin of the Congo, he and his followers was met by an envoy of the local king who assured him that the river was quite near. De Brazza courageously followed him, but trusting to his account of the distance, omitted to take a supply of water.

They marched all day over an arid plateau without seeing any signs of a river; the next day also passed without any results. The explorer began to have doubts; he asked himself if the native guide had not betrayed them and if they were not doomed to a horrible death in the wilderness. The man, however, insisted still that the river was quite near, and the little party stumbled on in mute despair. Night fell, and while De Brazza became more and more desperate he saw suddenly at his feet a vast sheet of water glimmering in the dusk.

At Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 19.—Dr. Edmund Richter, the German engineer captured May 25th, while carrying on topographical studies on Mount Olympus, the fabled home of the Greek gods, in the wild frontier region between Turkey and Greece, and held for ransom, has not yet been released in spite of the united efforts of the German and Turkish governments.

Newspaper despatches confirm the general belief that Dr. Richter, like Miss Ellen Stone, the American missionary ransomed by a Bulgarian band in 1901 for $65,000, has fallen into the hands, not of ordinary mountain brigands, but of a Greek patriotic band and that the ransom of $225,000 demanded for his release is destined for the partisan warfare about to be renewed in Macedonia.

Dr. Richter, who was engaged in a semi-official mission, mapping the Olympus region for a German geographical society, was captured well inside Turkish territory, his escort of Turkish Gendarmes being killed by his captors. Letters from Lalios, the bandit leader, demanding the ransom of 50,000 Turkish pounds ($225,000) were delivered through Turkish villagers. It was therefore assumed that he was held in Turkish territory, and for ten weeks a small army, under personal command of one of the Young Turk leaders, has been carrying on regular military operations to locate his captors while representatives of the German government and the firm employing Dr. Richter have been scouring the mountains with the gold for his release. According to the news despatch, Hamid Bey, the Young Turk commander of the expedition, has now suspended the pursuit, learning definitely that Richter is held in Tirnavos, on Greek territory, in the house of one Delyannis. The band which captured Richter is probably harbored in the Greek monastery of St. Eelias, near Tirnavos. The capture, the correspondents are assured, was organized by the "Greek National Society," the organizer being a Captain Strati, formerly a Greek officer, who lived several years in America, and was carried out by the band under Captain Lolios.

A further despatch from Salonika states that on account of the great growth of the band-warfare on the Greek frontier, it is proposed to suspend the pursuit of Richter's abductors in order that the troops in the Olympus mountains can be used in warring on the band.

The Richter incident is only one of many facts pointing to a renewal of the so-called "band warfare" between irregular detachments of Greeks and Bulgarians against each other and mutually against the Turkish troops, which drenched Macedonia in blood for many years. The struggle was suspended at the time the Young Turkish revolution, Bulgarian "kemitatjes" and Greek partisans fighting side by side with the Young Turkish troops to capture Constantinople and overthrow Abdul Hamid. The Greeks and Bulgarians were bitterly disappointed by the results of the overthrow, the era of good feeling has passed, hostillities have already been resumed on a small scale and now both sides are preparing to take advantage of the dissentions within the Young Turkish committee, which is rapidly losing its grip on the administration of the empire.

The State of Prussia, which, unlike the United States, does not frown upon lotteries, but derives no inconsiderable revenue from a State owned and managed lottery, has concluded a contract with Bavaria, Baden and Wurtemburg, extending the operations of the Prussian State lottery to these States. For this the Prussian lottery will pay Bavaria alone $554,000 per year for each of the first five years of the contract and thereafter $10.50 on every $50 lottery ticket sold in their territory. The arrangement with the other States have not been published. For the three States which have hitherto had no lotteries of their own and have forbidden the operations of other lotteries, the arrangement gives a most welcome addition to their revenues without any corresponding risk or burden on their subjects, while for Prussia it is one step nearer the realization of the Imperial lottery monopoly, toward which she has been striving since the foundation of the empire in 1870. Only Saxony and the city of Hamburg now remain outside of the fold and the absorption of their lotteries is thought to be a matter of only a short time.

While the price paid the southern States for their participation in the lottery is large, Prussia can well afford it. The net annual revenue from the State lottery being about $2,500,000. The annual receipts of the lottery, which now are more than $31,600,000, will, of course, be largely increased when the sale of the tickets can be pushed in the South German States, an increase from the present number of 380,000 tickets included in each semi-annual drawing to 450,000 or 460,000 being contemplated.

* * *

A lengthy programme of legislative work has been drawn up for the Imperial Parliament to deal with on its reassembly after the long Summer vacation, although it is fully expected that most of it will be carried over to the succeeding Reichstag, to be elected at the end of the year. In the first place, a bill to reform the railroad ticket tax, which in its present form gives rise to considerable complaint, will occupy attention. Then comes a bill to provide for persons injured while rescuing others from peril, while better provision for sailors hurt during their duty aboard ship is to be asked for. Further bills deal with the liability of surface car companies for accidents, and amendments of the espionage laws and the patent laws are to be presented. A very stringent measure for the punishment of food adulterators has also been filed.

MADAM ELDON.

Palmistry, phychometry and clairvoyance, is the talk of the town these days. The wonderful revelations made by her great gift have excited the surprise and widespread comment of her hundreds of visitors, who have left her office filled with amazement, as well as highly pleased with the tidings she has brought them. Not one of her patrons has expressed disappointment or dissatisfaction, and large numbers of representative citizens have called on her as skeptics and left her as admirers of as well as believers in her marvelous power. See advertisement elsewhere in this paper. **

Fighting Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpusoles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purfier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c. at R. R. Bellamy.

Land Building on Which City Can't Collect Taxes—Live Models May Supplant Wax Figures—Wall Street Wondering.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, Aug. 19.—That there is in this city real estate exempt from taxation whose value is 50 per cent. greater than the National debt, or the total amount appropriarted by Congress last year for the running of the country, is the astonishing fact just indicated by the report of the president of the Department of Taxes and Assessments. The exact value of the land from which Father Knickerbocker receives no income, much as he would like to, is given out at $1,576,208,879 or more than equal to the value of the country's corn crop.

The largest single item in this enormous figure is contributed by Central Park, its value being put at $250,000,000. As a matter of fact the true value is probably much higher, and could it be sold it might well bring at least $400,000,000. For many years suggestions have been made with more or less frequency looking to the sale of this property, and it is likely that the report of the Department of Taxes and Assessments will renew the discussion of the matter, futile though it may be. Some of the larger items which contribute to the billion and a half total are the City Hall and Court

A PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY

Friends of Josph W. Folk, of Missouri. Present His Claims to Highest Office in Gift of the People.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—Joseph W. Folk, "the man who cleaned up St. Louis," and who as Governor did a similar service for the whole State of Missouri, is now prominently in the public eye as one of the leading possibilities for the Democratic nomination for President.

Mr. Folk's friends—many of whom are banded together in the Missouri Democratic League—are greatly encouraged by the flood of messages and letters from all parts of the United States urging Mr. Folk to become a candidate. The League was formed to present the eminent Missourian's ability and availability to the citizens at large and the response has been most gratifying.

The early canvass shows that Mr. Folk is tremendously popular in the South. Born and reared in Tennessee, he has a host of friends there, who are rallying to his standard. He is the son of Henry B. Folk, who was a native of North Carolina, and in after years one of Tennessee's most eminent lawyers. His mother, too, is of the Southland, for Martha Estes Folk was a mmber of an old Virginia family. Joseph W. Folk's wife was Miss Gertrude Glass, of Brownsville, Tenn., and so his family connections cover several States.

It is Mr. Folk's record in constructive statecraft that is apparently attracting most attention, and his record and achievments in public office have earned for him the admiration and respect of political economists, writers and teachers. As Governor of Missouri during the four years, 1904-1908, when the State was being redeemed from the grafters and forces of corruption, and going through a process of rehabilitation, he originated legislation that has become the model for other States. Notably is this true of his anti-lobby law, that killed a powerful and arrogant lobby at the capital. The Folk Direct Primary law, whereby candidates for political office are chosen on the same date through the State, has been pronounced perfect. Certainly it has put elections upon a new basis in Missouri. Every voter now has a fair and equal chance to name his choice for office. He also fathered the statute providing for the selection of United States Senator by direct primary.

Since his retirement from official life Mr. Folk has not been idle. He has been a leader in the fight for civic decency and honesty in administration. His opinion has been sought on all public questions and his judgment is respected and valued in every issue. He is the leader in Progressivism, and his "Doctrine of Democracy" has been quoted and admired all over the country.

There is no doubt as to his aggressiveness. While in the South on his last trip he was quoted as saying: "The key to the solution of the problem of government is to make the patriotism of the people as aggressive as the greed of the few. Representatives of graft and lawlesness never sleep—they work, work, work all the time. The people occasionally wake up and fight for their rights, but after they have won a victory go to sleep again. The problem is to keep them awake and on the aggressive.

"I believe in the initiative and referendum, and if government by the people is right, then these measures are right."

Concerning Democracy he has said: "Democracy is a religion; the religion of brotherhood among men, and of equal rights for all. It is a religion that would demand more of the Golden Rule, and less of the rule of gold in government and in our daily lives. It would have all united in enforcing the laws, and in counteracting any attempt to defy them.

"It would not array class against class, but would protect the rights of all by having each respect the rights of others. It would not attack wealth honestly acquired, but would wage unending war against the privileges that produce tainted riches on one side and undeserved poverty on the other. It would protect property rights, but would recognize the fact that property rights are best protected by preserving inviolate the public rights. It would not combat men, but the evil that men do. It would seek as a remedy for existing evils not less government for the people but more government by the people. It would place conscience above cunning, and the public good above private greed. It would not offer a man an advantage in the shape of a subsidy or bounty or protective tariff, enabling him to make money at the expense of his fellow men, but it would assure him that it would give no one else such a special privilege over him. It would guarantee to all an equal opportunity to live and labor and enjoy the fruits of honest toil.

"Such is Democracy as I understand it."

Governor Folk has been unanimously endorsed by the Democratic State convention of Missouri for the nomination for President. At this convention, as delegates, were all the Democratic candidates for Congress, the legislature, the judiciary and all State offices. Champ Clark, now Speaker of the National House of Representatives and then candidate for re-election to Congress, was temporary chairman. Congressman Russell was permanent chairman, and Congressman Alexander was chairman of the committee on resolutions. The resolution has been generally approved by the united Democracy of Missouri, and it eliminates any other possible stand-bearer.

It is almost impossible to summarize Governor Folk's work in the field of consructive legislation. The Anti-Lobby law made it possible for him to give the people the two cent a mile passenger rate, and the maximum freight rate laws. The anti-trust statute was amended to make violation a felony. Under him, compulsory education became a reality and all children under 16 must attend school at least eight months in the year. More than that, Missouri now has free text books.

The wise and beneficial Child Labor and Factory Inspection laws were his. The big cities were made law abiding, and the lawless driven across the State borders. Sinecures were eliminated from municipal and State administration and public officials and servants were taught to understand that a day's work must be rendered for a day's pay. The great gambling syndicate, that operated through the race tracks, was shattered, and bucketshop gambling was made a felony.

Reviewing what Mr. Folk has accomplished in the 43 years of his life his friends believe there is good reason for the opinion which seems so prevalent throughout the United States—that he is fitted for a larger field, that his attainments should be tested in the White House.

BETTER SANITARY CONDITIONS.

How Health May Be Promoted By A Little Attention.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—Of great importance to human life is good health, which cannot be preserved if the sanitary conditions in and about living quarters are bad. Among the worst conditions to be found about any home is a soil that has become polluted. The Secretary of Agriculture has published a bulletin which treats of such pollution and certain simple plans far avoiding it.

Soil pollution by human excreta endangers the health of a family. It is possible by the expenditure of a few dollars for a sanitary privy to prevent this soil pollution, enabling the family to live, year after year, on the same premises, without endangering its members' health.

A number of widely prevalent diseases have been spread by means of polluted soils, simply because the facts have not been widely known, and it is to bring needed information on this subject to the dwellers on all farms and the residents of every village without a proper sewerage system, that Farmers' Bulletin 463 has been issued, and is now ready for distribution to anyone who makes application to either the Secretary of Agriculture, a Senator, or Representative in Congress.

Full information, with illustrations, estimates of cost, and plans for constructing the sanitary outhouses, is contained in the pamphlet. Directions are given as to how to keep a privy sanitary and how to properly dispose of night soil.

In the United States about 400,000 persons suffer from, and about 35,000 die from typhoid, each year; over 2,000,000 persons have hookworm disease. Thousands of these deaths and many thousands of these cases of disease might be prevented by the use of sanitary privies.

"Although there may be no soil pollution upon one's own premises, his children may be exposed to all the dangers at the schools which they attend, and the entire family may be so exposed when they attend church, unless these schools and churches are provided with these sanitary conveniences. Lack of sanitary privies on neighbor's farms may also be responsible for cases of typhoid and infections on farms which are provided with proper outhouses, because disease germs may be carried for considerable distances by flies, by animals, by the feet of persons, by wagon wheels, and by drainage from one farm to another."

"In view of these well-established facts, it is evident that among the highest duties that rest upon a farmer, or dweller in a country village, is not only to have a sanitary privy on his own premises, but to insist that the pollution of the soil be prevented throughout the entire neighborhood."

CHICKEN FARMING.

Splendid Profits Resulting From Efforts in Texas.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 19.—The splendid profits resulting from chicken farming in Texas within the past few years have caused a number of those who have made a success of the business elsewhere to investigate the possibilities of the business here. The poultry products last year aggregated $25,000,000, and the steady growth of the business indicates that those figures will be excelled this year by several millions. With the fact stablished that the Texas hen actually prevented the price of eggs rising to 50 cents or more about last holiday season and also that the price of eggs has been kept within the reach of the masses during the non-productive Summer season by the activity of the hens in Texas, some notion of the advantages offered here is apparent to those interested in the business. Eggs have been going out from many points in Texas for the past eight months by the car load. It is this constant supply that has kept prices down in the Northern markets. Last year in many of the Northern cities in the mid-Summer season, eggs brought as high as 50 cents per dozen. This year the top has been 35 cents. Those in touch with the business say the price in reach of all has been due to the great output from the Texas poultry yards. Eggs direct from the poultry yards here sell in the market at 16 cents, the price giving the chicken farmers a handsome profit.

THE GLIDDEN TOUR.

Pathfinding Car Will Leave New York This Week—Route.

(New York, Aug. 19.—The pathfinding car of the Glidden automobile tour will start from this city next week to map out the route to be followed this year between New York and Jacksonville, Fla. The eighth contest for the Glidden trophy this year will start on October 14th, and end at Jacksonville October 25th. The route will touch the following cities: Trenton, N. J.; Philadelphia, Lancaster, York and Gettysburg, Pa.; Hagerstown, Md.; Winchester, Staunton and Lexington, Va.; and other places through the Shenandoah Valley, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Charlotte, N. C.; Spartanburg and Greenville, S. C.; Atlanta and Macon, Ga., thence due south to Madison, Fla., and east to Jacksonville.

The following statement regarding the tour was made today by S. M. Butler, chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile Association:

"The elimination of the many technical details and restrictions heretofore imposed now make it possible for the individual tourist, who is the owner of a bona-fide touring car or runabout, to go through the tour with the minimum of expense and inconvenience and the maximum enjoyment of the pleasures of real touring, at the same time aiding the great cause of road improvement.

"The status of any section is known by the roads it keeps and the passage of the National Tour causes a competitive road making campaign to be inaugurated by every community along the line. The first evidence comes from Jacksonville, where the Duval County Commissioners have already awarded the contract for hard-surfacing the highway from Jacksonville to the county line, to be completed before the start of the tour. Similar assurances have been received from the various communities along the line of the National Highway and local pride will result in producing the best possible road conditions over the entire route.

"The competitive feature of the tour is strongly impressed by the active formation of representative teams of three cars each to compete for the Glidden trophy, but only by towns and cities along the route, but by those adjacent thereto and even by neighboring and distant sections. Teams may be looked for from Harrisburg, York, Baltimore, Washington, Roanoke, Winston-Salem, Anderson, Salisbury and Macon, as well as New York, Atlanta and Jacksonville and Detroit, Chicago, Indianapolis and many other towns and cities."

Always Better to Laugh.

Jane Jones said "Laughin' at trouble is a sight more sensible than cryin' at it. I've seen whole families broke up by one measly little quarrel, jes' because none of 'em had sense enough to know when 'twas time for laughin'. You can't stay mad long if all you git is laughin' at an' fun pokin'."

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel For Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ—

Good-bye sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelling feet, tired feet.

Good-bye corns, callouses and bunions and raw spots.

You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

If you don't find all this true after trying a box of TIZ, you can get your money right back.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

THOUGHTS WORTH REPETITION

(By T. W. C.)

Every day seek to say or do some kind word or act.

* * *

Belief is the acceptance of a map. Faith is taking the voyage.

* * *

* * *

Christianity is free, but we must pay the price of freedom.

* * *

* * *

Natural and simple dignity is a desirable thing, but it won't pass for piety or brains.

* * *

Zeal without meekness is like a ship at sea, in danger of every rising storm.

* * *

The bread of life is love; the salt of life is work; the water of life is faith.

* * *

Always stand for the right, but do not wear yourself out with worry because you can not turn the world and make it over in a day.

* * *

"Work for some one, be it ever so slowly,
Work for some hope, be it ever so lowly,
Work! For all labor is noble and holy."

* * *

Ten thousand of the greatest faults in our neighbors are of less consequence to us than one of the smallest in ourselves.

* * *

There is something wrong with our lives if they are not examples in addition. "Giving all diligence add to your faith virtue, and to virtue knowledge," etc.

* * *

Men devise many plans to escape the consequence of their deeds, but the old saying is not yet out of date, "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

* * *

Repentance is the ploughing of the ground, which needs to be torn up, while faith sows the living seed which strikes out roots and grows in the pulverized soil.

* * *

"There is no helmet and mail like leal-heatedness and good faith, and no shield and tower like propriety and righteousness."

* * *

Do not be in a hurry, but be diligent. Enter into the sublime patience of the Lord. Be charitable in view of it. God can afford to wait; why can not we, since we have him to fall back upon?

* * *

We are told that the kingdom of God is righteousness, peace and joy. When we are told to pray for the coming of that kingdom, it is a prayer for the triumph of truth, for the elimination of evil, and for the consummation of human blessedness in the incoming of a joy that is everlasting.

* * *

The Christian gives up no more than the man of the world. He simply gives up lower things that he may gain things that are higher; while the man of the world turns away from the higher things to gain the lower.

* * *

If there isn't room for you at the top there is room for the earnest, faithful service nearer the bottom. The world and the church, too, may have a surplus of men that want the higher places, but there will never be too many who are willing to take the lower places of earnest faithful laborers.

* * *

There are souls in the world who have the gift of finding joy everywhere, and of leaving it behind them when they go. Their influence is an inevitable gladdening of the heart. It seems as if a shadow of God's own gift had passed upon them. They give life without meaning to shine. These bright hearts have a great work to do for God.

* * *

Trying to work yourself gradually into an unpleasant duty is like going into cold water inch by inch. The better plan is to plunge right in.

* * *

We see human heroism broken into units and say this unit did little—might as well not have been. But in this way we might break up a great army into units; in this way we might break sunlight into fragments and think that this or the other might be cheaply parted with.

* * *

A rising Saviour demands a rising life. For remember, brethren, there are two laws—one law by which all men gravitate, like a stone, to the earth; another law, equally strong, the law of grace, by which every renewed man is placed under the attractive influence of an ascending power, by which we must be always drawn higher and higher, until at last he is fit for the fellowship of the saints and the presence of God.

* * *

The old palimpsests were manuscripts from which the first writings had been erased in order to use them again for fresh writing. But no palimpsest was ever so thoroughly erased that some of the characters did not show up in the lapse of time, or under certain treatments or conditions. So it is with human souls. What is first written on them by habit and will may be wiped out and replaced by better things. But the boys or girls who allow their earliest years to contain evil and forbidden words and records must expect a hard fight to erase them, and an appearance of the old evil now and then when least expected. How much better to keep a clean page that needs no rewriting?

* * *

Because the man is also conscious of the need for forgiveness, he may not explain the need as I would. He may have lost his sense of relationship to the throne of the Eternal. He may speak of forces where I speak of God. But there is no man who knows his failure who does not in the deepest of him, wish it had not been, wish it could be undone, regret the fact of it. The passion for perfection is one of the common inheritances of the human heart. No man is really, in his deepest life, content with imperfection. Every man admires perfection. Every man would, if he could, realize it in every department of life. There is no man who loves sin. He may love the things that sin suggests to him, but every man is against his own sin.

BLACK RIVER CHURCHES.

Rev. E. B. Carr Makes Further Appeal for Assistance.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Atkinson, N. C., Aug. 15.—If you have ever been a member of either of the churches of this group and have moved away, or if you are now a member of either of these churches, South River, Harmony, Black River and Caswell churches, I appeal to your Christian patriotism and loyalty to the work of Christ in "the building of the Presbyterian church at Atkinson, N. C." Hear me, just a moment: The carpenters began the work last week, the hammers are today, while I write, sounding forth their melodious music in my ears. The carpenters are well on the way with the work, they have the window casings all in and a part of the weatherboarding on; we have the most of the material paid for with which to enclose the church, with the exception of the flooring, windows, etc., but the main thing we need now is about $300 or $400 with which to pay carpenters and to buy a little more material.

We are glad to note that since our last call through the Star that one family sent us a cheque of $25.00 for this work. Are there not other faithful, loyal Presbyterians who will do the same, or like manner. If every member of this group of churches will send us an average of $1.00 per member, we will have ample money to enclose the building, especially if all the people who have once been members of either of the churches of this group who have moved away, but are still living, will send us $1.00 or even the small amount of fifty cents. Unless our people send us some money right away we will have to stop the carpenters next week. Brethren, this church has been framed up for three years, and some parts of it almost ruined, a standing monument of shame and disgrace upon our good old Scotch people. I believe it is because some of us have not known the facts and needs of the work; surely it is not characteristic of our parental heritage to manifest so little interest in the building of the house of the Lord.

I claim to be Scotch, myself, as well as a Christian, and my heart is in this work. Oh, that my people would bear in mind that we are stewards of God's money. Sayeth the Lord: "The Silver and the Gold is Mine." Oh, may we open up our hearts and pocketbooks to this work, and send in the money at once. Why it is that some of our Caswell church members as well as others of this group of churches are a little slow in contributing to this work? Is it because that our people are not able, if so you are excusable. I verily believe that if the hearts of our people were in this work we could raise $1,000 in less time than a week; the question is not are we able to build the church, but the great question is will we build the church? It is not a question of poverty, but a question of loyalty and patriotism in the Lord's work. I count it that Black River group of churches stands second in wealth to any group of churches in Wilmington Presbytery, according to its membership.

If there be any carpenters in this group of churches who want to give us a few days work free of charge, bring your saw and hatchet, square and pencil, and come ahead any day—this week, if possible—we will give you something to eat, if no more.

I will try and let you hear from me again next week, as to our progress and needs, and results, in the meantime brethren, let me hear from you with a contribution to this work.

Send your money at once to Rev. E. B. Carr, Atkinson, N. C., and I will see that every cent of it is used in the building of this church at Atkinson, N. C. If you can't send me but 25 cents, I will appreciate it. Any amount you can send us, be it ever so small, will be very greatly appreciated. May the Lord help us to consecrate our money and wealth, as well as our bodies and spirits to his service. Yea, can we, is it possible to consecrate our lives to the Lord's work, yet leave unconsecrated our money and wealth? I leave the question with you. May the Lord bless this letter to His glory and our good, is my prayer. Yours very sincerely,

E. B. CARR.

Not Satisfactory.

"No, sir," said a clerk to his employer, "I do not think there's anything unreasonable in my asking for an increase of salary. You may remember that you promised me a raise when I had been with you a year."

"I know I did," rejoined the employer; "but didn't I make it condition on your giving me every satisfaction?"

"And in what way, sir, haven't I given you satisfaction?" asked the clerk.

"In what way?" replied the employer, with a show of anger. "Do you think you are satisfying me in asking for an increase of salary?"—The Wasp.

Treatment of Heart Wounds.

Incised wounds of the heart are no longer beyond the reach of surgical science. It seems almost a cry back to mediaevalism to recall the time, hardly more than twenty years ago, when the suggestion of heart surgery would have been regarded as chimerical.

Thirty Years Together

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. I'ts the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c., $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

The Small Boy and His Hat.

He flings his hat across the dining room when he comes in from school, or leaves it in all manner of places in the house; in the coal-bin, or on sister's bureau. He loses it just at church time, and spoils the spirit of family reverence and piety. As the family enters the church the anthem is being sung, and the disgrace of being late again is laid on the innocent headpiece clutched in the hand of the small boy who has already forgotten the confusion of which he was the cause twenty minutes ago. In this stage also one's hat is removed on the way to school by the hand of one's bosom friend, passed down the line of surrounding boon companions, stuffed into others' pockets, while dire thoughts of ultimate loss hold one in their grip, and the reckoning to be paid at home wraps the world in tragedy.—George L. Parker, in the July Atlantic.

Observant Childhood.

Children are natural lovers and natural logicians. Eager, unconsciously observant they think things out in their own way, they desire the best for their friends and they have unbounded faith in what might be termed automatic justice. Some such attitude of mind lay at the root of little Tommy's odd remark when told that a family friend, thoroughly unselfish and frequently imposed upon by her unthinking relatives, had slipped suddenly from this present world.

"Well, mother, I'm so glad there are many mansions in heaven, so there'll be enough to go 'round in the Dennis fambly, an' leave a nice one for Miss Hallie. You know, she never did seem to have anything of her really, truly own down here!"

In His Power.

"How effusively sweet that Mrs. Blondey is to you, Jonesey," said Witherell. "What's up? Any tender little romance there?" "No, indeed—why, that woman hates me," said Jonesey. "She doesn't show it," said Witherell. "No; but she knows I know how old she is—we were both born on the same day," said Jonesey, "and she's afraid I'll tell somebody."—Harper's Weekly.

Already Used to It.

Manager—"That young woman whom I placed at this counter a year ago already knows more about the business than you do, and I find that I shall have to put her at the head of the department, though I fear it will be rather unpleasant for you to be under her orders." Clerk—"O, no; I am getting used to that. We were married last month."—Stray Stories.

Smart Youth.

"Tommy, what did you do with that penny I gave you for taking your medicine?"

"I bought a bun with one halfpenny, ma, and I gave Jimmy the other half to drink the medicine for me."

Both Deceived.

She—"You deceived me when I married you." He—"I did more than that. I deceived myself."—Boston Transcript.

HEAT MAKES CHILDREN ILL

Summer is a very trying period for young children, and many a child who is usually healthy suffers during the heated term. There are many dangers for the child in summer. These lie in milk, food, water, fruit, etc. The greatest peril is from some form of stomach or bowel trouble. It is usually the starting point of graver troubles. The child becomes constipated, or gets indigestion. Perspiration is interfered with, worms develop, the skin becomes scaly and itchy, and the poor child is in much misery. Do not let it go, and trust to luck or fate for a cure. Use a remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is intended to cure that very condition and is especially adapted to children's ills because of its mildness and purity. If the child has any of these symptoms, or has not had a passage in 24 hours, it needs Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at once. It will act promptly but gently, and as it is pleasant to take you will not have to force it. A bottle can be obtained of any druggist at 50 cents or $1.00, and you should obtain a bottle today, so as to have it on hand for an emergency. FROM LITTLE, OLD NEW YORK

Houses, together with the real estate which is figured at $28,000,000, while the new public library with its adjacent grounds is valued at $22,000,000 a figure calculated to make even Mr. Carnegie a bit jealous. Church property also takes a prominent place, that of Trinity church being valued at $17,600,000, St. Patrick's at $7,850,000, and St. John's at $4,900,000. But, although the city gets no income from all this land Father Knickerbocker can at least point to himself as the largest holder of non-taxable land in this country.

Whether or not visitors to New York are to be afforded the novel spectacle of living models in show windows in place of the wax figures now used for the display of gowns and hats remains to be seen. At present feminine New York is busily discussing the possibilities of such a plan, which was suggested at a recent convention. The strongest supporters of the scheme are the show and chorus girls of the city, who would welcome the chance to wear the latest creations and become the center of attraction behind a plate glass window instead of being secondary to the star on the stage. Moreover, it would afford a source of revenue during dull seasons. On the other hand a well-known dressmaker's model thinks the idea is not practical since she is certain that the public is too crude to understand such an idea and that the window models would be guyed. "I don't know whether the plan would help sales," said a store manager. "There would be seven men to one woman in front of the windows. Even the traffic cops would forget autos and be drawn into the mob. And it would be hard to get the right woman models for such exhibitions. To show off fine gowns without the right kind of women in them would be a waste of time." One of the country's most prominent illustrators has come out in favor of the scheme and so the discussion continues. It is certain, however, that it will be necessary to call out the reserves at the first trial of the living model plan.

Wall street seems to have invented a new game, or rather a modern form of an old one, for at present it is indulging in the query of "Money, money, who has the money." That there is plenty of cash somewhere seems to be as certain as its location is uncertain, and the captains of finance are eyeing each other suspiciously and wondering what is the matter. Brokers view the dull market with gloomy faces wondering what is responsible for the present low prices. Trust decisions, crop conditions, and many other factors are discussed without furnishing a satisfactory explanation. It has been pointed ont, however, that the holdings in large corporations are now much more widely distributed than was the case a few years ago, a recent compilation of figures showing that the securities of 171 of the big organizations are scattered among nearly 800,000 persons, this indicating a more general knowledge and interest in corporation earnings. Everywhere economies are being sought. Holders of railroad securities for instance, are demanding that the leak through which the railroads now lose millions of dollars annually in connection with the transportation of the mails be stopped by some more equitable readjustment on the part of the government which will at least eliminate this loss, and make possible the application of the increased income to dividends or betterments. Holders of industrial securities, who a few years ago knew nothing of the condition of the market for any particular product, now watch the markets of the world. Altogether, the present day investor or speculator is becoming less prone to seek advice as to how he shall buy or sell, and more prone to inform himself concerning conditions and act accordingly, and in this may be in part the answer to Wall street's question.

That Summer, aside from the time honored vacation joke, is from an economic standopint the most expensive period of the year has just been revealed here as the result of a curious investigation of the effect of the hot months on the public purse. It has been discovered, for instance, that shoes wear out from ten to twenty per cent. faster in Summer, due to the contact with heated pavements while the leather is parched, and as there are nearly 4,000,000 pairs of shoes always on the go in the greater city the added expense from this item amounts to nearly $1,000,000. Likewise tobacconists report largely increased sales in hot weather although there is no increase in smoking. This is due to the fact that the heat dries the tobacco making combustion far more rapid, with the result that four cigars or cigarettes hardly go as far as do three uring the Winter months. The presence of Summer dust shortens the life of felt hats nearly fifty per cent., due to the constant brushing necessary to remove it. Underwear and hosiery likewise give a much shorter ticles as collars, shirts and handkerperiod of service, as do such other archiefs. Moreover men spend far more money on their hair in Summer than in Winter, because of the need of more frequent hair cuts and shaves. Altogether it is estimated that the unavoidable increase in expense caused by warm weather amounts, in this city, to at least $10,000,000.

The riddle of the sphinx, which has perplexed philosophers for ages, is in a fair way to be solved in this city at least. This remarkable achievement, which, if it is accomplished, will be brought about by women, contemplates the abolishing of the sphinx, and with it of course the riddle. The movement underway is not, however, the result of piqued feminine curiosity, but a part of the campaign for the improvement of public art appreciation undertaken by the Municipal Art Society. The reason for the proposed abolishment of the sphinx is due to its complex nature, which the would-be eliminators hold exerts an extremely undesirable influence of the art concepts of the young. The movers for the abolishment for the decorative purposes from the city of the ancient figure cited the case of two boys who recently were arrested for indulging in a fight in an effort to decide the identity of the sphinx. One of the precocious youths insisted that the figure in question was that of a dog because of its tail, while the other held that it was a woman, basing his argument on the face. Even blows could not settle the matter and so the art workers have decided that any figure exerting such an influence could not be made an instrument in the development of artistic appreciation and should be abolished. As a result it would seem that women are about to get even with the baffling sphinx by excluding her, or it, from the city.

BAGGAGE SWINDLE.

Clever Games That Didn't Work in San Antonio, Texas.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 19.—Two young men dropped into this city today with a get-rich-quick scheme that looked like a sure winner. They made their play and were in the hands of the officers in less than one hour, even if their game was so new that the brand was unblemished. In the language of those who live by their wits, their plan was a "sure thing." It was this way: Three cheap suit cases were checked to this city from a point in Arkansas over the I. & G. N. A young man called on the baggageman in this city with a check for one of the cases and lamented the fact that he had lost the other two checks. His description, however, was so accurate that he was permitted to take them. An hour later another young man called for the baggage and presented the checks. Failing to get them, he at once claimed $50 on each. It was clear that the road was in for the loss. But before paying it or promising to do so—the baggage agent having "smelt a mouse"—the matter was placed in the hands of the officers. A little investigation exposed the game and the two young men fell into the embrace of the law. Thus another get-rich-quick scheme came to naught. It is understood that the same game had been worked successively in a number of places in the North, particularly in Iowa and Illinois.
